5,182 Students In City Schools, Laidlaw Reports

High Percentage of School Attendance Pointed Out to Education Trustees at Meeting

Banking Gains

More Than 900 Deposit Cash Through Schools; Patrols Discussed

Superintendent Laidlaw reported that the registration as of September 18 in the Kingston elementary schools was 2,665. In the Myron J. Michael School the registration is 746 and in the high school 1,771. This makes a total of 5,182 students in Kingston public schools.

The popularity of the needle trade instructions in the vocational school is shown by the fact that during the last week registration has doubled.

Mr. Laidlaw also reported that Kingston students had deposited $4,183.76 in the school savings system this past week. This is the summer accumulation and is considerably larger than in following months of the year. There is now on deposit in the school savings system a total of $102,532.53 represented by more than 900 accounts.

That Kingston students are a bit more regular in attendance than the average in the state is shown by the fact that the attendance percentage in Kingston schools is 95.01 against the attendance average of students in the state of 94.26. These figures are shown by the 1938-1939 attendance figures.

Patrols are Asked

Mr. Laidlaw also reported that the elementary school principals had asked for re-establishing of the Safety Patrol System on streets adjacent to public schools. This was discontinued some time ago when the question of responsibility was raised. It was believed that if the students were authorized by the Board of Education to act as traffic patrol officers near schools, that the board would be compelled to assume responsibility in case of an accident.

It has been stated by one insurance office that there probably would follow responsibility and that if this was to be covered by liability insurance the rate probably would have to be revised upward.

It was stated that the patrol officers did not go out in the streets but acted as guards on the walks on corners near the schools. They prevent children from running out into the street in front of traffic but have no control over vehicular traffic.

The board decided to get a ruling on the question of liability before taking action toward re-establishment of the Safety Patrol System. The Safety Patrol System is considered a step in "safety education" in many places.

Storm Batters Buffalo Area; 3 Persons Hurt

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Wind, rain, hail and lightning left battered communities, toppled trees and broken power lines scattered across western New York today.

Lightning crippled light and power service here and in Lockport, N. Y.

High winds, described by one witness as a "miniature cyclone," cut through Orchard Park, Erie county, and raked the farm community of Fox Valley in Cattaraugus county.

Three persons were injured when wind destroyed a barn.

Clayton Fleckenstein was taken to a Buffalo hospital with both legs broken. His wife and their hired hand, Donald Nagel, suffered minor injuries.

Trees were toppled in several sections. Numerous small fires were reported started by lightning in Buffalo.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—The position of the treasury September 28: Receipts $10,214,460.60; expenditures $30,906,008.48; net balance $2,108,532,314.21; working balance included $1,413,039,394.44; customs receipts for month $33,020,323.91; receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $1,426,255,658.85; expenditures $2,380,985,229.26; excess of expenditures $954,729,570.41; gross debt $40,853,620,699.03; decrease under previous day $365,293.05; gold assets $16,929,748,645.06.

F. C. Cameron's Funeral

Corning, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Funeral services for Frederick C. Cameron, 68, retired executive of the Corning Glass Works, who died at his home last night, will be Monday in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church. Burial will be in Hornell.

Trustees Endeavor To Get Young Men As School Janitors

Building Committee Asked to Get Ruling From Corporation Counsel as to Fixing Age Limit

In a move to "get younger blood" in the janitor service in city schools the Board of Education last evening authorized the Building Committee to request from Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin an opinion as to the possibility of the local Municipal Civil Service Commission adopting an age limit for janitors in the public schools.

This action followed that of a prior meeting when the Board requested that a list of eligibles containing names of men "under fifty" be submitted to the Board from which selection of a janitor might be made at a future time.

Trustee Haver stated that under the Civil Service law only the State or Municipal Civil Service Commission had power to set a minimum or maximum age limit and he said that as he interpreted the law the Board had no power to ask for any age limit. The law he said stated that an age limit could be fixed by the State or Municipal Civil Service Commission, and only by those bodies, and that in the event "extraordinary physical" condition was required as in the case of policemen, firemen, prison guards, etc.

For some time the board has been endeavoring to bring down the average age of the janitors of the city and appoint younger men to vacancies. At a prior meeting the board sought to have only names of men 50 or under certified by the Civil Service Board as eligible and the action taken last evening is to determine whether any age limit can be fixed. The report of the corporation counsel will act as a guide for future action.

It was stated that the work of janitor was very strenuous in winter when walks had to be shoveled and fires kept going. This made it necessary for men to get out very early to clear walks before school time and to fire boilers and have the rooms warm. In severe weather it means long hours and hard work, one member stated.

Will Train Pilots

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30, (AP)—New York's Education Department disclosed today approval of facilities for 270 pilot students in seven colleges of the state in connection with the national war pilot training program. Colleges and individual quotas thus far approved: Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, 30; New York University, 100; Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, 30; University of Buffalo, 40; Siena College, Loudonville, 20; St. Bonaventure, 20, and Pratt Institute, 30. The state quota for schooling pilots is 1,200.

Assumes New Duties

Poznan, Sept. 30 (AP).—Dr. Hans Frank, German minister without portfolio, has assumed the duties of supreme civil administrator for this former Polish territory. He said the most important task was "irrevocably to secure this soil for German farmers and never again permit it to become a disputed province."

Campbell Asks Divorce

London, Sept. 30 (AP).—Sir Malcolm Campbell, the speedboat and automobile racer, has filed a petition for a divorce from Lady Campbell, citing two co-respondents. Lady Campbell, the former Miss Dorothy Whitall, was married to Sir Malcolm 19 years ago.

Opponents Charge Neutrality Bill Kills Johnson Act

Supporters of Act Relying Upon Views of California Senator, Author of Loan Ban

Cites Difference

Republican Tells Papers Situation Now Different From 1934

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP).—Administration leaders in the Senate advocated the neutrality revision bill today as a strictly "cash and carry" measure, while opponents charged anew that it would grant England and France credit previously denied them by the Johnson act.

The Johnson law, passed in 1934, prohibits Americans from making loans to governments which have defaulted on their debts to the United States. England and France are both in this classification and at least some officials contend Germany is also because she absorbed Austria, whose debt to this country has not been satisfied.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev), of the Senate foreign relations committee contended, in a report concurred in by a majority of the committee, that expired "cash and carry" provisions of the neutrality law had been strengthened in the pending bill by tightening up requirements that belligerent nations obtain title to any goods purchased in this country before it is shipped.

Relying Upon Johnson

To meet charges that the 90-day credit permitted by the bill would abrogate the Johnson act, supporters of the proposed measure were reported relying on views said to have been expressed to the state department in 1934 by Senator Johnson (R-Calif), author of the loan ban and one of the chief opponents of Pittman's proposal to amend the neutrality law.

At that time, it was said, Johnson took the position that ordinary commercial credits would not infringe on the Johnson act.

Johnson said today that he had no recollection of having communicated his views to the state department in 1934. He added, however, that it was possible he had done so.

"Even if I did," he told reporters, "this is a different situation. At that time there was no intent to evade the terms of the act in handling ordinary commercial credits. Now we are faced with a proposition where there is an intentional design to abrogate the Johnson act."

Changes Opinion

Pittman, who agreed yesterday with Johnson that the neutrality revision bill would modify the Johnson act, said today that a further study of the latter had somewhat changed his opinion.

"It's possible," he said, "that a construction could be given to the word 'loan' that would not include ordinary international credits with relation to ordinary export goods. These matters are generally transacted through 90 or 120-day drafts or other similar evidences of payment. These are considered cash transactions."

Senator Borah (R-Idaho), one of the leaders of the opposition to the so-called Pittman bill, said it was his opinion that 90-day transactions were tantamount to cash. For that reason, he said, he did not believe they would infringe on the Johnson act.

But, he added, he had every reason to believe that such 90-day credits would soon be found insufficient. He predicted that additional legislation then would be sought which would virtually wipe out the Johnson act.

Johnson said he did not believe that 90-day credit to belligerents could be regarded as an ordinary commercial transaction approximating a cash payment.

"Up till now," he asserted, "we have been led to believe by the sponsors of the bill that it would require cash on the barrelhead. Where is the cash in this?"

Turkey Notifies Britain, France Pact For Assistance No Good if Nations Wage Warfare Against Soviet Russia

Holy Name Rally Executive Committee

The above group, with General Chairman William R. Johnson, of Saugerties, constitutes the executive committee which has arranged the details of the Holy Name parade and rally to be held here tomorrow afternoon. Members of the group, seated, from the left, are Leo P. Fennelly, publicity; Walter Walczak, parking; Leo Murphy, reception; Fire Chief Joseph Murphy, parade; Ernest Steuding, aide to the marshal. Standing, from left to right, are William B. Martin, stadium; Joseph McAuliffe, decorations; Gus Kogel, vice-chairman of the committee; William Short, altar, and James M. Murphy, ushers.

Report Also Given Turkey Would Close Dardanelles and Neutralize Black Sea to All

Europe Uneasy

Rumania's Foreign Minister to Go to Warsaw Monday With Staff

(By The Associated Press)

Soviet Russia's emergence as Germany's partner in redrawing the map of eastern Europe precipitated intense diplomatic activity today while quiet on the western front persisted.

Turkey, caught between ties with Russia and the British-French allies, was reported:

To have notified Britain and France her mutual assistance obligations to them would be annulled if they went to war with Russia.

To have agreed with Russian leaders that she would close the Dardanelles to warships of all belligerent nations, thus neutralizing the Black Sea.

Other development reflected uneasiness in southeastern Europe.

Rumania's foreign minister prepared to go to Moscow Monday with a staff of experts; a German economic mission arrived in Budapest; Bulgaria was expecting Rumanian territorial concessions; British officers conferred with King George II of Greece.

The German Reichstag, called only to hear a declaration by Reichsfuehrer Hitler, will meet "in the coming week," it was announced in Berlin.

Italian Cabinet Meets

The Italian cabinet met with Premier Mussolini and voted new taxes to meet the unbalanced budget and "new military expenses."

With Poland partitioned and Germany and Russia in agreement to try to compel Britain and France to forget that nation and their war with Germany, London and Paris appeared preparing to rebuff the Nazi-Communist maneuver.

On the western front the French high command announced there had been "a night without incident" though patrols were active east of the Saar river.

The French campaign was reviewed by Premier Daladier in a "strategic conference" with army, navy and air force leaders.

The German high command noted only "a little livelier artillery activity" in the west; in the east it said 269 officers and about 5,000 men had surrendered after the capitulation of Modlin.

12-Plane Attack

Elaborating on yesterday's announcement of a British air raid near the German North Sea base of Helgoland, the high command said 12 planes in two groups attacked. The first group was driven away by anti-aircraft fire, it said, while German pursuit planes accounted for five out of six of the second group.

The British air ministry meanwhile announced British fliers had succeeded in taking valuable photographs of Germany's Siegfried Line.

Pope Pius XII in addressing Polish residents of Rome in Castel Gandolfo, sought to console them by declaring: "Remember that Poland is not going to die."

In Moscow, however, the government newspaper Izvestia warned against any interference with the pacts between Russia and Germany, one of which partitioned Poland equally among them.

The next step by the Nazi-Communist partnership was expected to be a search for a neutral nation to present the "peace or else" offer to Britain and France.

Reports from western Europe that the peace maneuvers were received cautiously in Berlin where some quarters said calm British consideration of the situation would change snap judgement.

In the western hemisphere, the inter-American neutrality conference in Panama studied the problem of defining safety zones in American waters.

New Sales Slogan

London, Sept. 30 (AP).—The vocabulary of war is providing British advertisers with new slogans to promote sales. One bookshop suggests that Londoners "read while they raid;" the manufacturer of a shampoo advises women not to "blackout the highlights in your hair," and a patent medicine is described as "a doctor's barrage against ill health." Other advertisements tell how to keep the hands soft while digging trenches; how to keep the colonel from biting his nails by giving him chocolates, and a portable heater is described as just the thing to warm air raid shelters.

Russell, Murray Chosen at Parley Held at Albany

Justice Pierce H. Russell of Troy, Republican, to succeed himself, and William H. Murray, Troy Democrat, for the unexpired term of the late Justice Daniel V. McNamee of Hudson, was the tripartisan selection for two supreme court justices of the third judicial district made at Albany yesterday.

The American Labor Party on Thursday night had nominated Justice Russell and Mr. Murray for the two posts. The two major parties met yesterday at Albany for their judicial convention.

Republicans entered into the tri-partisan agreement only after a contest over the nomination of Mr. Murray. With Columbia county and Ulster county voting for Columbia County Judge George C. Inman, and Greene county splitting, the vote was 36 for Mr. Murray and 13 for Inman. Backers of Judge Inman then moved to make the nomination unanimous.

Both conventions were held simultaneous and the Democrats quickly named the two men but held up final announcement until the Republican convention had arrived at its decision.

Major Albert S. Callan placed the name of Judge Inman in nomination. Former Justice Ellis J. Staley of Albany was chairman of the Republican convention. Neile F. Towner presided over the Democratic convention.

Justice Russell's name was presented by Dean P. Taylor, Rensselaer county GOP leader. Edward J. Donahue, former Troy corporation counsel named Mr. Murray in the Republican convention.

The name of Justice Russell was presented to the Democratic convention by William E. Fitzsimmons, Albany lawyer, and Mr. Murray's name was presented to the Democratic convention by Thomas V. Kenny of Troy.

The Republicans named to the committee on vacancies Kenneth S. MacAffer, Albany leader; Mr. Taylor, John L. Treat of Columbia, Nelson O. Bailey, Greene leader; J. Ernest Wharton, of Schoharie; Henry F. Gardner, of Sullivan, and Philip Elting, Ulster.

The Democratic committee on vacancies is comprised of Robert E. Whalen, a leader of the Albany Bar; Assemblyman George W. Foy and Bernard Culloton of Ulster.

The Democratic committee on notification, follows: William E. Fitzsimmons, Albany; Triestram Coffin, Hudson; Percy Decker, Catskill; Owen Connolly, Troy; Milo Kniffen, Cobleskill; Albert Decker, Liberty, and Roscoe Irwin, Kingston.

Board of Education Grants Hospital Use of High School for Commencement

Kingston Hospital officials were granted permission to use the high school auditorium for the annual graduation exercises of the student nurses on the evening of Wednesday, October 11.

Members of the Board of Education however turned down the application of Kenneth M. Rolley for rental of the auditorium on November 9 for a concert. Application was made by a New York booking agency for rental rate for use of the auditorium. It was learned that the concert was not sponsored locally and that there was no local connection with the affair. On motion of Trustee Remmert the request was denied and it was stated that this action was taken generally where the affair seeking use of the building was not sponsored locally and did not pertain to any established educational cause.

Arthur B. Ewig wrote thanking the Board for its permission allowing the United Jewish Appeal to hold its meeting in the auditorium on October 9 when funds for welfare are raised.

Trustee Remmert for the finance committee offered the payroll amounting to $40,779.64 and bills were audited to the amount of $14,687.84.

Trustee Remmert also for the teachers committee reported the engagement of Miss Jane Ward as physical education teacher for a term at the annual salary of $1,400. This action was approved by the board.

Trustee Katz reporting for the Supplies Committee stated that 50 lockers for the high school had been purchased; 72 folding chairs at $1.20; 12 chairs at $3.95 and various maps for the high school and MJM school. Mr. Katz reported that a plan was being devised to keep the typewriters of

Holy Name Parade, Exercises At Stadium to Be Held Sunday

Father Reilly and Judge Loughran Will Give Principal Addresses At New Stadium Sunday; Public Is Invited

Kingston tomorrow will play host to thousands of visiting members of the Holy Name Society of the Archdiocese of New York, here to take part in the Holy Name parade and rally in the new municipal stadium. The public is invited to witness the parade and participate in the stadium program.

The parade will leave Wurts street at 2:30 o'clock sharp, marching through McEntee street to Broadway, to Albany avenue, to Clinton avenue, to Main street, to Wall street, to North Front street and to the stadium, the last division arriving there at about 4 o'clock.

After the paraders are massed in front of the temporary altar erected in the center of the playing field, the rally program will be opened. The principal addresses will be made by the Rev. Charles Reilly, professor of moral theology at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, and the Hon. John T. Loughran, associate justice of the New York State Court of Appeals. Welcoming addresses will be made by the Rev. Edmund Burke, regional director of the Holy Name Society, the Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, and Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman.

Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the renewal of the Holy Name pledge and the singing of the hymn "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name" will close the program at about 5:30 o'clock.

Members of the various committees arranging the details at the stadium are reminded that they should meet at the stadium at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Food Prices Near World War Level

Federal Officials Say Trend Raises Farm Benefits

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP).—Administration farm officials hailed a report today that the general level of prices received by farmers in mid-September was only two per cent below the pre-World War level.

Speculative and demand factors arising out of the European war caused the level to advance from 88 per cent of the goal to 98 per cent between mid-August and mid-September, the bureau of agricultural economics reported.

Crop officials expressed the hope, however, that the advance would not cause farmers to overplant next year. They said that present surpluses appeared to be sufficient to supply any anticipated needs arising out of the conflict.

Commodities which climbed above the pre-war price levels included meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs and truck crops. Meat animals were 17 per cent above the 1909-14 level, dairy products 7 per cent above, chickens and eggs 2 per cent and truck crops 14 per cent.

High on Agenda

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Discussion of the best way to keep America out of war stood high on the agenda for the annual convention of the New York State Junior Chamber of Commerce when more than 200 delegates opened business sessions today. Mark S. Matthews, of New York city, president of the organization, said the question would feature the sessions and that a resolution on neuutrality would be adopted.

Million Dollar Loss

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Falsified payroll reports have cost New York's insurance fund nearly $1,000,000 in the last two years, a state investigation has revealed. Emanuel Eschwege, supervising investigator in the probe ordered by Governor Lehman 15 months ago, said it disclosed about $800,000 in the New York city area and $175,000 upstate had been "saved" by employers through erroneous reports.

Wanted in Newburgh

Miss Katherine Shelters, 49, of 124 West Chestnut street, was arrested Friday evening on a warrant sworn out in Newburgh charging her with passing a bad check. She was turned over to the Newburgh police for arraignment in court in that city.

Pope Tells Poles Nation Will Live In Strong Faith

Castel Gandolfo, Sept. 30 (AP).—Pope Pius XII coupled his consolation to the Polish people today with an admonition to "remember that Poland is not going to die."

"May Christ, who wept at the death of Lazarus and over the ruins of his fatherland, gather and some day compensate you for the tears which you spill over your dead and over that Poland which does not want to die," said the Pope.

Speaking at an audience for Polish residents of Rome "in this frightful, tragic hour," the Pope asked his listeners to place their trust in God, to look forward to the future with hope and, especially, to pray that Poles would not be deprived of the comforts of religion by "enemies of God."

August, Cardinal Hlond, primate of Poland, stood beside the Pope as he bestowed his apostolic blessing upon the Polish people.

Many of those in the audience of 200, mostly priests and nuns, wept at the Pope's words.

When he finished speaking, the Pope stood in rapt attention as the gathering sang "May God Protect Poland," the hymn with which Poles have comforted themselves in previous partitions of their homeland by foreign powers.

The Pope, who spoke in French, said the Polish people had lost their lives and goods before in the nation's long history, but declared there are riches which "are not kept in strong boxes but in the human heart."

"These you have never lost," he said, "nor above all have the Polish people lost their faith."

He declared the Poles had defended their soil with such courage they had won even the praise of their enemies.

'Safest' August

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30, (AP)—Automobile accidents caused 197 deaths in the state last month but it was the "safest" August in 11 years, the Motor Vehicle Bureau reported today. The fatalities brought the automobile death toll to 1,362 in the first eight months of the year as compared with 1,488 deaths in a corresponding period last year.

Reports Submarine

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 30 (Canadian Press)—Ralph Bremer, secretary of the Fishing Vessel Owners' Association said a "very reliable" fisherman had reported sighting a submarine near Sechelt, 30 miles north of here, September 16.

Scientists Map De Soto Trail

Ethnologists Work for 20 Years Tracing Route of Spanish Captain.

WASHINGTON.—The 400-year-old trail of Hernando de Soto—first white man to penetrate the interior of America—has been mapped by ethnologists of the Smithsonian institution.

The ethnologists spent 20 years tracing the Spanish captain and his little expedition from the east Florida coast to northern Mexico. It took De Soto three years to make the journey that men now make by air in six hours.

The task of trailing De Soto, which historians had held was impossible because of the few records of the journey, was performed by Dr. John R Swanton, chairman of the U. S. De Soto Expedition commission in preparation for the 400th anniversary of the expedition.

Dr. Swanton directed a staff of assistants that included Miss Caroline Dormon, of Chestnut, La., and Col. John R. Fordyce, of Little Rock, Ark. Colonel Fordyce died recently, soon after completion of his long and arduous task.

Changes Blur History.

During the four centuries that have passed since the Spanish captain landed on the Florida coast and undertook his expedition, the countryside has undergone profound changes. The last speakers of the tongues of some of the savage tribes he encounter. have died.

No accurate journal was kept of the 1,500-mile trip. The trail had to be pieced together from scanty records and diaries of members of the party. These sometimes differ. The expedition moved through an unmapped and unknown territory. Names of rivers and other landmarks differ from one source to another.

Dr. Swanton concludes his report with a tribute to De Soto:

"We are paying tribute to an enterprise which has important historic, ethnologic and archeologic meanings for the people of the United States as a whole. We are paying tribute also to an enterprise which, in spite of its coarser aspects, did not lack something of knightly character, a theater for the display of real virtues albeit virtues of the sterner and harsher type.

Compared With Cortez.

"In the leader of the expedition we have no Galahad, but one who, by the standards of his time and country, compared favorably with Cortez, Pizarro and other similar leaders.

"His courage was unquestioned, his skill tested over and over again in the most difficult situations, and the cruelties in which he, like all of his contemporaries, indulged appear almost always to have been motivated by supposed military necessity rather than the enjoyment of suffering for itself.

"De Soto, when dying far from home as a disappointed, disillusioned and financially ruined man, could not have foreseen that his passing in what was destined to be the heart of one of the world's greatest nations, and his burial beneath the waters of the grandest of North America's rivers, would give him a place in the world's history far more assured than if he had discovered the fabled El Dorado for which he searched."

Protect Baby's Eyes

The eyes of a baby should be protected from strong sunlight, and never should an infant be allowed to lie on its back in a crib or carriage so that it can stare directly at the sun, warns the Better Vision institute. If a covering is not provided to shade the eyes, serious damage to them may result. The lens of the eye, when directed squarely at the sun, will collect rays that may burn the retina, in the same manner that a burning-glass will scorch paper by concentrating sun rays upon it. Cases of children with permanently damaged areas in the retina from looking directly at the sun are not rare.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 30 (AP).—Buyers pushed shares likely to benefit from a prolonged European conflict higher in today's stock market and leaders added fractions to 5 points or more.

Activity was moderate at the opening and continued at a fair rate thereafter. At the finish prices were near the best of the day.

Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

Return of the "war infants" to favor after their temporary eclipse yesterday was based largely on the belief Prime Minister Chamberlain in the British House of Commons Monday would announce the rejection by Britain and France of the Russo-German peace move.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

Flatbush Unit

The Flatbush Parent-Teacher Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the schoolhouse on Tuesday, October 3, starting at 8 o'clock. The committee has been fortunate in securing as guest speaker, Edgar Beebe, head of the psychology department of New Paltz Normal School. The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting and enjoy Mr. Beebe's talk.

No. 5 Rummage Sale

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 5 will hold a rummage sale at 556 Broadway on October 2, 3 and 4. Friends having articles to donate will kindly call Mrs. Scholar, 4091-J, or Mrs. Briggs, 23, and articles will be obtained.

To make an amusing game called "chair quoits", turn a straight-backed chair upside down, mark a line on the floor about five feet away from the chair, and throw rings made of braided rope at the chair legs.

Rail Equipment Orders Increase

Continued rises in steel output and a mounting list of orders for rail equipment, as the boom in heavy industry gains momentum, are features of the industrial news these days.

The extent of the recent growth in equipment business is seen in the statement that during the first month of the war in Europe railroads of the country ordered more than $60,000,000 worth of freight cars and inquiries were received for $30,000,000 more. Meanwhile nearly $10,000,000 worth of locomotive construction has been announced.

Foreign orders of size appeared Friday as there were reports that French government was inquiring for freight cars, while Brazil placed orders for 1,000 cars, 500 each to American Car & Foundry and Pullman. Brazil is also expected to place contracts with Baldwin and American Locomotive for 17 locomotives.

Friday, Norfolk & Western ordered 25,000 tons of rail; Illinois Central placed orders for an additional 10,600 tons of rail and Frisco was authorized by trustees to spend $682,032 for rails and fastenings.

Atchison is after 4,500 cars, Great Northern 1,500 and New Haven may buy as many as 1,000 cars.

American Car & Foundry was low bidder on 400 tanks, costing approximately $20,000 each, for the U. S. Government.

To meet the rising demand steel production is scheduled to start the coming week at an advance over last Modnday's figure of 83.8 per cent of capacity, headed toward the 1937 high of 02.5 per cent.

Auto output this week of 62,755 units was the best for the week in ten years. Ward's predicts output in October of 400,000 unless there is labor trouble affecting the industry. The best previous 1939 month was March, with 389,489 units produced. Best 1938 month was December, with production of 406,960. Chevrolet started final assemblies this week.

Nationwide department store sales for week ended September 23 were three per cent above the same week in 1938, according to Federal Reserve reports. In the New York district the gain over last year was 4.8 per cent while New York and Brooklyn sales were better by 6.4 per cent. St. Louis, Kansas City, San Francisco and Dallas districts showed losses over 1938 week.

Texas R. R. Commission has reversed its previous order and the Saturday and Sunday shutdown of oil wells will continue through October; also the first Monday and last Friday is added to the closed period.

With sharp increases in grain and meat prices, the prices received last month by farmers for agricultural products showed the largest monthly change since devaluation of the dollar in the spring of 1933, department of Agriculture reports. General index was ten points over previous month and three points higher than a year ago.

Jones & Laughlin salaried employes on October 1 will go on full work schedule and full pay. Took reduction in February, 1938. Factory employes of Johnson & Johnson will get five per cent increase, effective October 24.

Trading on the New York Stock Exchange dropped to 1,130,000 shares Friday and all stocks were lower for the day. Losses were in early trading, with improvement later. Industrial issues, in the Dow-Jones averages, for the third day took a loss, being down .96 point, to 150.16. Rails were off .71 point, to 34.31; utilities dropped .26 point, to 24.83.

Continental stock markets were depressed by news that Russia and Germany had concluded a second pact; also the pact between Russia and Estonia.

BRITISH SOLDIERS DEBARK FROM TRANSPORT

Disembarking from a transport which has brought them from England to an unnamed French port, these British soldiers are ready to proceed to the western front where France has faced Germany across the "no man's land" between the Maginot and Siegfried lines since the beginning of the war. Picture transmitted from London to New York by radio.

Seven Committees For Scout Drive

The seven district committees of the Ulster-Greene Council of Boy Scouts held their quarterly meetings during this month and each group has set up its organization for the annual finance campaign. The following are the chairmen:

Kingston District, George Matthews, Kingston; Saugerties District, John Sauer, Saugerties; Northern District, Dr. John Redmond, Catskill; Western District, Reginald Every, Mt. Tremper; Rondout Valley District, Ruben Benson, Ellenville; Southern District, Ray Cunningham, New Paltz.

Each district has been very enthusiastic of the report which Dr. H. W. Keator, president of the council, has presented regarding the progress made during the past year in reducing the indebtedness $1,200.00 and also in the fine increase in troops and scouts.

The districts are all ready to start their campaign the week of October 9 and have accepted the goal of $9,000.00 for the council objective. Each community in the council area is organizing under the local chairman and they are setting as their goal to exceed the amount raised last year.

The 907 scouts in the council are assisting the workers in the campaign by delivering a letter from the president of the council to all friends of scouting which gives a report of work accomplished during the past year. The scouts are glad of this opportunity to do their good turn and help continue scouting for themselves and other boys what want to become scouts.

It's A Colorful Season . . .
It's A Season of Action . . .
It's Fall
When Nature and Her Children Discard the Carefree and the Casual and Don the Colorful Cloak of a New Season's Glamour
SUMMER was fun. Clothes didn't matter much . . . It was too warm to fix up . . . or clean up . . . or dress up—in fact too warm to get any sort of inspiration at all. But now there's a new season. You can't help but notice it . . . and feel it, too. The leaves have joined the spirit of the occasion in their newly painted garb. Even the air seems different . . . so fresh and exhilarating. And all about us people are dressing up . . . and homes are being fixed up—dressed up, too, if you please. Everybody has caught the spirit of the occasion. It's different . . . it's exciting . . . IT'S FALL!

Holy Name Society Leaders

Freeman Photo

St. James Church to Hold Special Services Sunday

St. James Methodist Church will observe Harvest Home and Rally Day Sunday, October 1, in all the services through the day. Mrs. Irene Ihde, evangelist, radio entertainer, singer, and organist, will be present. She will speak in the church school which opens at 9:45 a. m., following promotion and a short class session. She will give the message at the morning church service at 11 o'clock.

At 4 p. m., a vesper service will be held with Mrs. Ihde in charge. This will be followed by a social hour with refreshments served in the church basement. Mrs. Ihde will speak to the young people in the league service at 6:15 o'clock. At 7:30 o'clock she will give the "Great Drama of Life" and will play "The Storm" on the organ.

Mrs. Ihde is a graduate of Northwestern University and has taught in this country and in Japan where she and her husband were missionaries. After her husband's death she took up her present work which is interdenominational in character. Her charming personality and unusual ability have added to her success in this field.

All the services including the social hour in the afternoon are open to the public.

Ladies' Aid Meeting

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Mt. Marion Church met at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in discussing activities for the coming year, and committees were appointed. Plans are under way for a food sale to be held in the near future. The ladies look forward to a very pleasant and profitable year with their new president, Mrs. Fred Osterhoudt.

Committee Formed

The nursing committee of the town of Shandaken was organized at the home of Mrs. William H. Cruickshank on September 25, with Mrs. Cruickshank as chairman.

Saftey Slogan: "You don't have to be Scotch to tighten your brakes."

Rummage Sale

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Kingston is making arrangements to hold a rummage sale at 555 Broadway, near the West Shore crossing. It will begin Saturday, October 14, and continue till goods are sold. All members and friends of the organization are asked to contribute as many articles as possible, and if they desire to have them called for kindly telephone Mrs. George W. Shulus, 1777-W, or Mrs. W. J. Whiston, 2032.

First Holy Name Society Started in Year of 1432

The question often has arisen regarding the origin of the Holy Name Society, the members of which throughout the Archdiocese of New York will hold a rally at the municipal stadium next Sunday. The history of the society, and the reasons for its establishment, are well described in the official manual of the society, published in 1914 with the approval of the then archbishop of New York, John Cardinal Farley.

In that booklet the origin of the society is set forth as follows:

"Sad indeed was the condition of the Church in France and Spain at the dawn of the 13th century. The ravages of heresy had well nigh taken from her all traces of strength and beauty. In the evening of unbelief the corner stone had been attacked and the edifice seemed to stagger. The divinity of Christ was denied; His supernatural character ridiculed. So prevalent was this heresy, and so complete its work, that if men did not deny in actual words that Christ is God, they did it just as effectively by speaking His name thoughtlessly and irreverently; by using it as an epithet with which to express every feeling, whether of sinful passion, undue excitement, or unholy anger. Truly might it be said that Christ was not known among them.

"Times such as these are sure to come in the history of the church, for it is human. But it is guided by God and, as an evidence of its divine guidance, wherever such a crisis appears, God raises up some man, especially fitted for the time, who by reason of his own ability, aided by heavenly strength, recalls the sinner from his errors to the way of justice and truth. The man chosen by God at this crisis was the saintly Dominic; his weapon, the preaching of Christ, and of Him crucified.

Taught Men to Think

"He taught men to think; he placed before their minds the mysteries of the incarnation, the redemption and the resurrection, in so clear and unmistakable a manner that ignorance of religion, on which heresy is built, was soon destroyed. Man grew to know Jesus Christ, and knowledge begot love. But the habits of years are not suddenly overcome, and though the heresy was destroyed, the effects, the blasphemies, the cursing, the swearing, the irreverent and unholy use of the Name of God, lived after. Dominic attacked and conquered the greater evil; his sons were to combat the lesser. The Second Council of Lyons, knowing the universal lessening of love and respect for the Name of Jesus caused by the Albigensian heresy, deemed it necessary to urge special devotion and zeal toward the Holy Name. The voice of the council is expressed in a subsequent letter (A. D. 1274) of Gregory X, who presided over its deliberations. The following is the letter:

Letter Gives Views

"'Gregory, Bishop, Servant of the Servants of God, to our very dear son, the Master General of the Order of Preachers, salutation and apostolic benediction.

"'Recently, during the Council held at Lyons, we deemed it a useful commendation to exhort the faithful to enter the house of God with humility and devotion, and to conduct themselves while there in a becoming manner, so as to merit the divine favor and at the same time to give edification. We have also judged it proper to persuade the faithful to demonstrate more reverence for that name above all names; the only name in which we claim salvation—the Name of Jesus Christ, who has redeemed us from the bondage of sin. Consequently, in view of obeying that apostolic precept, in the Name of Jesus let every knee be bent; we wish that at the pronouncing of that name, chiefly at the Holy Sacrifice, every one would bow his head in token that interiorly he bends the knee of his heart.

"'Wherefore, very dear son, we, by our apostolic authority, exhort, and enjoin upon you and the brothers of your order, to use solid reason in preaching to the people, that they may be led to comply with our desires. Thus you will win the crown of justice in the day of recompense.

"'Given at Lyons, XII. Kalendes of October, 3rd year of our Pontificate.'

Instructions Given

"The Dominican General, Blessed John of Vercelli, immediately issued instructions to the whole order, urging its members, and principally the preachers, to carry out the will of the Holy Father with scrupulous diligence, and untiring zeal. The devotion spread rapidly within and without the Order of St. Dominic. There is a tradition that the Holy Patriarch added the name of Jesus to the Hail Mary. Blessed Henry Suso cut into his flesh the letters of the name 'Jesus.' St. Vincent Ferrer lost no opportunity of preaching on the strength and beauty of the Holy Name. St. Catherine of Sienna began all her letters 'In the Name of Jesus crucified.' Altars in honor of the Holy Name were erected in all Dominican churches.

"In the year 1432 a plague was laying waste all Lisbon. Bishop Diaz, a saintly Dominican prelate, who had resigned his see and was living with his brethren at Lisbon, urged the people to put their trust in the power of the Name of the Saviour and to enroll themselves in a society which should labor to make the Name of Jesus loved and honored by all. He blessed water in honor of the Sacred Name, and its distribution among the people was followed by miraculous effects.

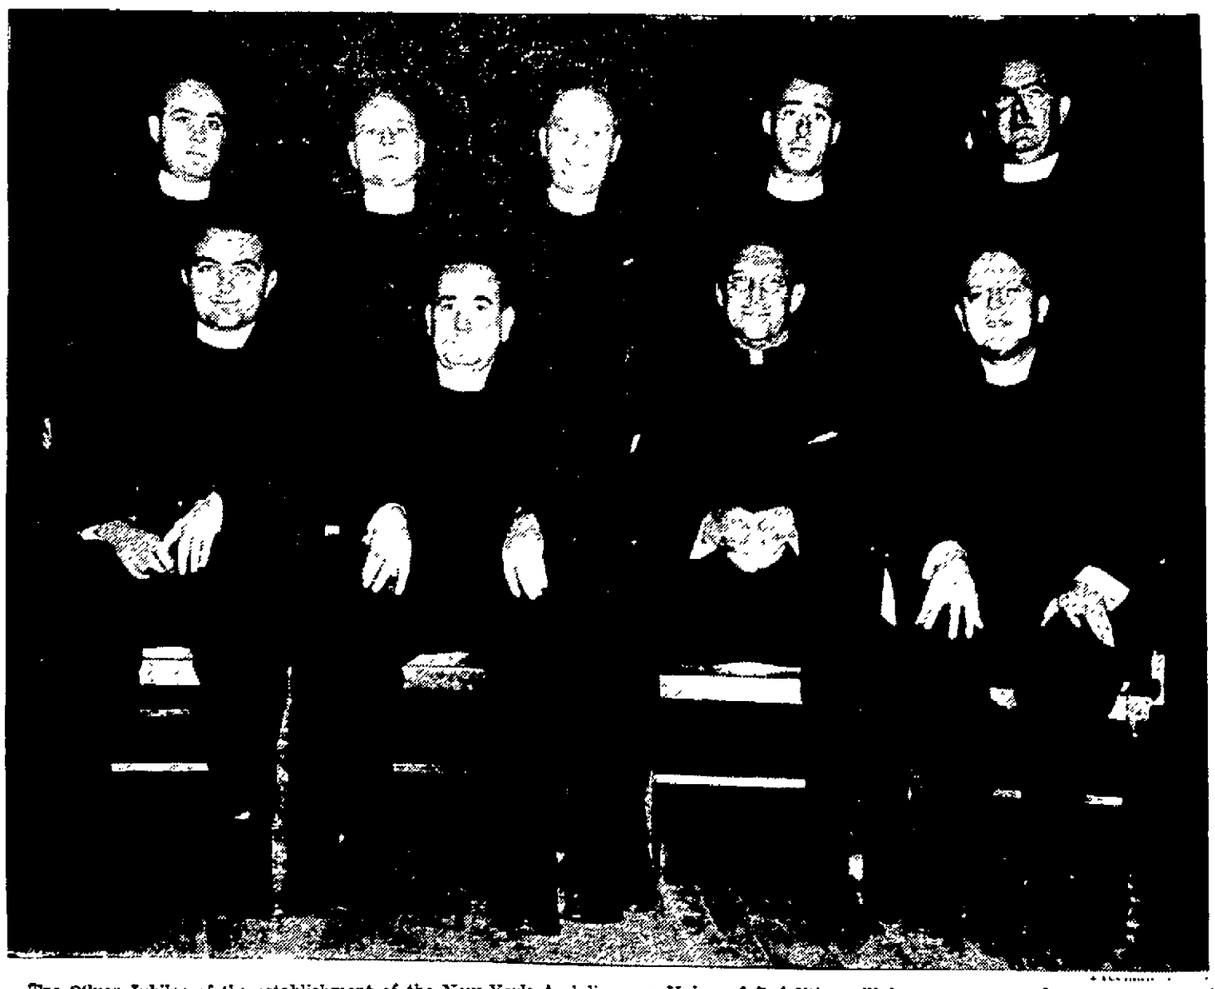
Society Formed

"In a remarkably short time the city was freed from the scourge. On January 1 the new society of the Holy Name assembled to give thanks to God for their deliverance. Statutes were drawn up. The Feast of the Circumcision was made the principal feast of the society, for this was the day on which Jesus received his Name. The second Sunday of every month was made the Sunday of the society. The Infant Jesus was to be the patron of the society.

"A century later another Dominican, Fr. Diego, founded the Society of the Name of God and of Oaths, which Pope Pius IV., on April 5th, 1564, affiliated to Bishop Diaz' Confraternity of the Name of Jesus. The pontiff blessed the now united societies with many privileges and indulgences. Pope Pius IV, in his bull of confirmation, urges all patriarchs, archbishops, bishops, and ordinaries of places, to do all in their power to promote the Society of the Name of Jesus.

"Such in brief is the origin of the Holy Name Society, which has since encircled the globe, developing a sturdy religious spirit, a deep love of God, and an abiding reverence of the Name of Jesus. Nowhere has the society made more rapid growth than here in our own country. The good it has done can be only faintly estimated, but it is certain that the society is checking the foul habit of profane and indecent language, that it is teaching men to mention with reverence the name of Jesus, that it is bringing to Mass on Sundays and to the Sacraments at regular intervals, thousands of men who would probably be negligent Catholics were it not for the society. In the providence of God, it is furthermore a most potent factor in maintaining belief in the divinity of Christ among the men of America."

Archdiocesan Union's Silver Jubilee



The Silver Jubilee of the establishment of the New York Archdiocesan Union of Sodalities will be commemorated tomorrow. It will take the form of a Solemn Pontificial Vesper Service at St. Patrick's Cathedral at 4:00 p. m., with Archbishop Spellman presiding in the Sanctuary, and Bishop Donahue as the celebrant.

New York Archdiocesan Sodality Union Division Directors are: Standing (left to right), the Rev. Philip J. Potter, St. Joseph's, Middletown, (Rockland and Orange counties); the Rev. Vincent M. Brennan, St. Peter's, Poughkeepsie, (Dutchess and Putnam counties); the Rev. Martin J. O'Donnell, St. Joseph's, New York, (West Manhattan); the Rev. Vincent A. Julian, Blessed Sacrament, Staten Island, (Richmond); the Rev. Albert C. M. Steffens, St. John the Evengelist, New York, (East Manhattan).

Kleber's Sword Is Back In the Town of Belfort

BELFORT, FRANCE. — After a century and a half, the sword of General Kleber, celebrated French military chief under Napoleon, has been returned to Belfort by American generosity and is now being shown in the exposition of relics of the French revolution.

Alfred Pardee, an American collector of Napoleonic historical objects, now residing in Cannes, is the present owner of Kleber's sword. He lent it for the exposition.

The sword was presented to Kleber in 1795 by the citizens of Belfort, and he kept it with him until 1800, when he was assassinated by a Mameluke in Egypt. The sword passed on to his heirs, but finally became the property of Pardee.

Foremen Offer Advice On Employee Relations

CLEVELAND.—A survey on employee relations—the first comprehensive study ever made to determine what the foreman thinks on the subject—has been conducted by the National Association of Foremen.

The survey, in which 4,553 foremen participated, showed that the average foreman considers the prompt handling of grievances the most important factor in keeping the worker happy.

Safety also rated high, as did recognition, co-operation, incentives and personal interest.

Marked progress was made in New York state the past year with the control of Bang's disease in cattle, reports Professor C. G. Bradt of the college of agriculture at Cornell University.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 30, 1939.

HIGHWAY DEATH TOLL

Twenty-eight persons were killed in automobile accidents in Ulster county this year. Treacherous driving weather lies ahead in the fall and winter months and it is hoped that all motor vehicle operators will exercise greater care so that this needless slaughter on the highways might not be greatly increased.

While Ulster reports this appalling death toll on its highways, the state motor vehicle commissioner discloses a reduction in motor fatalities throughout the state at the close of August. The number of "lives saved" during the first eight months of the year, compared to traffic deaths in the corresponding period last year, reached a total of 126. The state's motor vehicle death toll in the eight months was 1,362 compared to 1,488 in the first eight months of 1938.

Urban New York led the state in the August mortality saving, deaths numbering only 24, compared to 34 a year ago. However, deaths in both Rural and Metropolitan New York increased—Rural New York from 103 to 104 and Metropolitan New York from 62 to 69.

Highlights of the August statistical report, as compared to that of August, 1938, follow:

There was a 22 per cent decrease in the number of pedestrian deaths.

There was an increase of more than 54 per cent in the number of passenger fatalities.

The number of women drivers involved in fatal accidents increased 55 per cent.

Child deaths declined 24 per cent.

There was a 21 per cent decrease in fatal night-time accidents.

The majority of pedestrian deaths was due to "crossing against traffic signals," "crossing between intersections" and "coming from behind parked cars."

The "open country" continued to be the state's most serious accident location.

WAR IS COSTLY

Occasionally one hears that now is the time for the United States to enter the war and deal a knockout blow to dictatorship. The remark is proof that the person giving vent to it has not studied the situation carefully.

There are many million people in the United States who still well remember the amount of damage the World War did to us—in spite of the fact that we were the major factor in winning it. And yet our position is not nearly so secure now as it was then. When we entered the World War in 1917 our national debt was about one billion dollars. A year and a half of participation in the war ran it up to twenty-six billions.

If we were to enter this newest European war we would start with a national debt of $45,000,000,000. Taking into consideration our present flair for spending money, coupled with the necessary war expenditures and loans to foreign nations which would never be made good, it would be only a short time until our national debt would reach one hundred billions.

Now the question is whether we could as a nation stand any such folly as this. Would it be the saving of democracy in Europe or the end of democracy in the United States?

The newest entry into the world situation is Soviet Russia. And Russia, who cares nothing for Hitler, would like nothing better than to see the United States in the war. It would complete the folly of the so-called capitalist nations and hasten the ushering in of a totalitarian government the world over. Here is something to think about. Now is certainly not the time to be rocking the boat.

TRADE WORTH THE EFFORT

The United States has new trade opportunities in South America, opened to it by the war in Europe. Their proper development will mean new business, plus increased understanding, good will and fellowship in the Western Hemisphere.

There is a catch to fufilment of this happy prospect, however. Those trade opportunities cannot be grasped if this country regards them as all going one way. The immediate effect of the war across the Atlantic will be to curtail the purchasing power of the South American countries, for Europe will have to stop buying from them some of the goods it has been taking, and that will leave them less money with which to buy our goods. In order to sell more in South America this country has got to buy more in South America.

That isn't easy to do. We can't drink much more of their coffee. We aren't pleased at the thought of buying their beef and hides and grain. It may be necessary to set up special subsidies and credits until new trade lines can be opened. Our increasing tourist travel in South America will be a little help. So will an open-minded determination to establish a trade beneficial to both Americas.

It's a long-range investment in business and friendship, to be undertaken wisely and cautiously but wholeheartedly. The profits will be well worth while.

VOLUNTEERS

Kermit Roosevelt, son of Theodore Roosevelt, joins the British army as a captain, and will fight for Britain but retain his American citizenship. He is doing in an English uniform what his famous father wanted to do in a Yankee uniform in 1917.

Theodore Roosevelt would have liked to take a volunteer regiment of Americans to France when our country entered the last war, as he had done in Cuba during our war with Spain. Regular army officials objected and President Wilson turned down his request. "Teddy" was bitterly disappointed. Perhaps his son now feels that he is making amends for that.

Kermit Roosevelt happens to be the most conspicuous American volunteer to join the British forces so far. But there are thousands of Americans eager to take the same course. Many have gone to Canada to enlist. Others are straggling across to England or France, in spite of the difficulty of transportation and the efforts of our government to discourage such action as tending to endanger our neutrality.

Should-be war deterrents: Prospective stiff taxes, suppressed liberties, set-back for labor movement, etc.

The other 47 states all cheerfully concede California's claim to superlative weather.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

CORONARY HEART DISEASE

It has been amply proven that children of well-to-do parents are more nervous, more anxious, than those of poor parents. This is due to the fact that children of poor parents meet so many cares and difficulties that they learn to "take" them as a matter of course.

It has also been shown that those who have always been poor in this world's goods, the parents of these children, have better nerves than have adults who live in better circumstances.

An interesting study of how the economic status, the financial condition or position of individuals, has an influence on what is called coronary heart disease (disease of the arteries supplying the heart muscles) is reported by Drs. W. H. Gordon, E. F. Bland, and P. D. White, Boston, in the American Heart Journal. They examined the records of 600 well-to-do patients, and, for, comparison, 2,800 patients from the public wards of hospitals.

The public ward patients came largely from the low middle class of wage earners, many of whom were able to pay a part of their hospital expenses.

These physicians found that the number of cases of conorary heart disease and the severity of the disease was much greater in the 600 patients (private) than in the 2,800 general ward patients. The greatest difference occurred in the middle-aged patients, in whom the coronary spasm or stoppage (which causes the symptoms) was found to be twice as frequent in the group of private patients. The difference was most striking in middle-aged men.

I believe the lesson for all of us is very evident. All men and women have about the same amount of infections—teeth, tonsils, intestine—which damage the bloodvessels supplying the heart. In fact, the well-to-do should be able to get rid of infections sooner than those who are not so well off. What then causes more cases of coronary heart disease in the well-to-do than in the less well-to-do?

The explanation must be the tenseness, the worry, the anxiety of trying to keep pace with one's ambitions in this civilization. Tenseness and anxiety cause spasms of these vessels.

More rest, less worry, a better philosophy of life, would appear to be what the middle-aged well-to-do but struggling middle-aged man needs, if he is to ward off dangerous attacks of coronary heart disease.

Prepare Students for Democracy

Studebaker Urges Free Discussion Of All Problems

At this season, when 33,000,000 men, women and children return to the schools of the nation, J. W. Studebaker, United States commissioner of education, sees new and important obligations for the schools. At the request of the AP Feature Service he outlines them here for readers of The Freeman.

By J. W. STUDEBAKER
United States Commissioner of Education

Washington—Enlightened civilization is seriously menaced by new forms of despotisms.

The freedom and the dignity of human beings are now threatened by dictatorship. In deed, we desperately need a call for a forward march of the democratic movement. Our institutions of education have a dominant role to play in preparing citizens for progress under the conditions of freedom.

In helping democracy to move forward, we have at hand a marvelous educational organization. In buildings and modern equipment, recognizing the deficiencies and sectional disparities which we deplore, we are nevertheless in the lead among civilized nations. We have more than a million trained teachers, supervisors and administrators now engaged in operating this vast educational agency.

Education will not move democracy forward by merely teaching courses of study concerned with the democratic philosophy and principles.

The Basic Courses

Take note for a moment of the variety of ways by which institutions of education seek to prepare people for more successful living in modern society. The teaching of the tool subjects—reading, writing and figuring—is education for democracy, the most fundamental kind of teaching we do; for it is the basis for life-long self-education.

Thee proper teaching of reading and writing gives meaning to the concept of the free press and freedom of expression. In the emergency adult education program during the past few years, more than a million adults have been taught to read and write, to be curious to know more of the truth, and to express themselves freely.

But, at this moment in history, we must also devise ways of bulwarking education primarily because in their social policies, democracies, to some extent, have failed to keep up with science.

Why Dictators Rise

If we are going to achieve even greater success in our plans for education for democracy, we shall have to see clearly what threatens democracy. There is a tendency to mistake the effect for the cause and to deal with symptoms, rather than with the malady itself.

The boastful propaganda of the totalitarian regimes is not the basic menace to democracy. Fundamentally, self-government is being undermined by its failure to solve the crucial problems of the technological age. Ten million unemployed, vast farm surpluses, unused plant capacity, waste and destruction of surpluses, widespread and utterly needless poverty in the presence of scientific power for unprecedented productivity—these are the factors which threaten democratic life.

Let us not delude ourselves with the naive notion that people in some countries have lost their freedom because they WELCOMED regimentation and concentration camps as desirable things. They lost their freedom because they didn't know what to do about the practical issues which the new technology has created.

Unless people understand the source of their most serious difficulties and experience some success in using democratic procedures to overcome the modern crisis, they are likely, so to speak, to jump from the frying pan into the fire. For the trend toward dictatorship feeds on despair and fear. People do not CHOOSE to be dominated and regimented; they do not CHOOSE mere theories and ideologies; they choose leaders. Leaders, regardless of how they rise, can exercise arbitrary power and establish dictatorships if the people are sufficiently divided, frightened, and ready to admit they do not understand their problems.

Education for democracy, therefore, is basically concerned with the social and economic issues which have been put up to us by the machine empire.

If people by and large can be brought to understand the nature of modern technology and be disciplined in the art of critical discussion, they will not be so likely to follow any leader who puts up scapegoats and blood theories as substitutes for a solid consideration of practical problems. We are off on the wrong foot, it seems to me, if we satisfy ourselves merely with propagandizing people on the desirability of democracy. It isn't democracy that is in question in the minds of many; what they are worried about is the economic and social system which fails to give them opportunity and reasonable security.

Don't Dodge Issues

Some school systems dodge the controversial issues, the undecided, the debatable problems, as a plague. They stay at a safe distance from the matters which perplex most people. The result is a certain cynicism about education. It seems unreal to practical people who are concerned with vital questions.

Our task is to prove to ourselves and to the skeptical world that free people can catch up with science and harness it to their majority interests; that complex problems can be solved through deliberative methods and through free expression of public opinion.

With renewed confidence in self government, growing out of our philosophical convictions solidly built on practical achievement in overcoming the crisis, we shall then be in a position to renew the 19th century movement of world-wide liberation.

These two children, scribbling their lessons on the blackboard, are typical of millions all over the nation who are trooping back to school these early September days.

Republicans Feel That Roosevelt's 'Politics Adjourned' Phrase Has Put Them at Disadvantage

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 30 — The phrase "politics adjourned" has caused no end of embarrassment to the managers of political parties hereabouts. The speech of John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, decrying the idea of a "coalition" government, reflects the uneasiness which Republican leaders hereabouts feel over the way Mr. Roosevelt put them at a disadvantage in his plea for nonpartisanship in the recent message to congress.

Actually, there is little chance that politics will be adjourned. Indeed, political combat will be resumed at an early date—just as soon as the neutrality debate is out of the way. The Republicans who helped to prevent discussion by the Senate on the neutrality law last summer really did their party a disservice, for, had the question been disposed of then, there would have been no occasion for the new "emergency" which has arisen in party circles.

Now, however, the Republicans are divided on the issue of an arms embargo repeal and some of them want to act quickly and get rid of the issue, while others are really in favor of prolonging the fight and involuntarily giving Mr. Roosevelt and his associates an opportunity to win a victory.

From a strictly partisan point of view, the Republicans are being handicapped by the quietus put on party politics just now. For the Republicans are the ones to make the attack. The administration would prefer an adjournment of politics as long as possible. In these nine months prior to a national campaign, the heaviest barrages of political bombardment are usually let loose. The Republican headquarters here has been all set to go, and now, at the critical moment for gathering strength and particularly campaign funds, the leader of the Democratic party has suggested so effectively that politics be sidetracked as to make it difficult for active campaigning to be resumed.

Mr. Roosevelt's appeal for nonpartisanship on the embargo issue was a recognition of the widespread insistence that he allegedly wanted to make political capital out of the war emergency. But once the neutrality question has been acted upon, there is no reason why Chairman Hamilton and Chairman Farley should not start calling names and attributing motives once more. Indeed, it has seemed a long time since anybody around here has mentioned the importance of a "balanced budget" or the need for return to "the American way." It would seem like a return to normalcy to have issues raised again.

Inside the Democratic party, the situation is no different from that which prevails among the Republicans. The would-be candidates for the 1940 presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket have been stifled, too. They cannot get going either, For, when the president says "politics must be adjourned," he means among his own followers as well. Thus it is no casual occurrence which finds Secretary Ickes abandoning his debate with General Hugh Johnson on the third term issue. This would have been an event of a very instructive nature, not merely to politicians, but to those of us who watch on the sidelines the ups and downs of the third term thermometer.

There is always danger that, in a period of political somnalence, important candidacies will be overlooked. It seems a long time ago that Democrats were busying themselves on capital hill and elsewhere with the boom of Vice-President Garner. But is is very hard to get delegates or to talk politics when there is a war on, and when a minority have handed the spotlight to Mr. Roosevelt on an issue which happens to be dividing party lines more effectively than any radical-versus-conservative cleavages have done.

The truce in politics which now causes the political horsemen of both parties to champ at the bit probably will not last beyond the month of October. It may be shortened considerably by the Republicans. They can help to reduce the hours of debate and expedite the legislation after everybody has had a chance to be heard.

Tactics of delay will only interfere with the progress of several candidacies in both Republican and Democratic parties, and, incidentally, work to the benefit of the incumbent administration. For the longer public attention is diverted from the domestic issues which were developing until this month a decided anti-administration trend as reflected in the Gallup polls, the more pleased the administration will be.

Highland, Sept. 29—Mrs. Gordon E. Wilcox and Mrs. Philip T. Schantz are the hostesses on Thursday for the meeting of Chapter A., P. E. O. Sisterhood. At that time Mrs. Jesse D. Rose will conduct the program on a Study of the Constitution.

The Y. P. C. is to be formed on October 4 when all young women of the Presbyterian congregation are asked to meet at the manse. This includes all young women between the ages of 18 and 30. The object is to make a worthwhile evening with mutual interests of literature, music and games.

At the special meeting of the trustees of the Central School on Friday evening five bids were opened for the landscaping of the grounds surrounding the school. The highest bid was that of the Peckham Road Corporation, White Plains, for $12,670.45; Grandview Nurseries of Mt. Vernon, $11,150; Benjamin Lombardi, Highland, $10,440; Anzelone Brothers, Highland, $10,000; Malley Brothers, Wallkill, $9,230. H. A. Lent, associate counsel for the trustees, and J. P. R. Hannan, who represents the WPA on the erection of the school, were in New York Monday conferring with officials in the office there. The decision on the bid will be made at a later meeting.

Tuesday night water was going over the dam at the Goudy pond indicating that the water from Black Creek was going into the pond. The pumper was pumping at the rate of 200 gallons a minute and workmen had gone the length of the land between the creek and the brook which enters the pond and dug a ditch so that the water would flow the distance without covering too much of the boggy land through which the ditch was dug.

Miss Dorothy Upright, who holds a position at Bedford Hills, is spending this week-end with her mother and brother here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parks drove over to the Grahamsville fair Wednesday.

Mrs. Rose Seaman was re-elected president of the Women's Missionary Society at the meeting last week at her home. Associated with her as vice presidents are Mrs. James Swift and Mrs. Harry W. Maynard; secretary, Mrs. Joel Smedes; treasurer, Mrs. Walter Constable. On Monday evening the officers met with Mrs. J. R. Melius and made out the working program for the coming year. They also decided to postpone the annual rummage sale until spring.

Mrs. James R. Swift left Thursday for Rochester to attend the state convention of W. C. T. U. The sessions last until October 2.

Mrs. Carrie Ostrander is spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilklow at Lloyd.

Miss Emily Jane Bradshaw left Wednesday for Lutherville, Md., where she enters her sophomore year in Maryland College for Women.

Master Jacob J. Donovan conducted the opening communication of Adonai Lodge, 718, F. & A. M., Monday evening. Communications were received stating that D. D. G. M. Lamb of Saugerties would make his official visit on January 8, while the assistant grand lecturer would visit the lodge in February.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Visconti with Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Visconti of Milton attended a clambake in Poughkeepsie Sunday.

The Lloyd Rod and Gun Club met Tuesday evening and arranged to have Robert Upright, captain, Robert Muller, Guido and Anthony Palazzo, Albert Roberts and James Kallas take part in the shoot at Woodstock on Sunday. HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Sept. 30—The officers and leaders training school of the Home Bureau was held on Wednesday afternoon in Kingston, was attended by their chairman, Ruth Bergemann. It is regrettable that the other officers and leaders weren't able to attend this interesting school.

A meeting for officers and leaders of the Home Bureau will be held at the home of Mrs. Alton Parry on Monday at 2 o'clock to plan the year's program. Miss Parson will be there to give her assistance. Everyone is requested to be present.

Mrs. William R. Brooks and daughter, Frances, spent the past week in Long Island and attended the World's Fair.

Dr. Haskel and Mrs. Haskel of New York are spending a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Bergemann.

Blooming gladiolus may brighten your window boxes this winter because of the discovery of an inexpensive method of using ethylene chlorhydrin vapors to speed bulb germination. Fall-harvested bulbs may now be induced to omit their usual resting period and bloom in winter, by placing them in preserve jars with a piece of cloth, moistened with the vapors, and allowing them to stay four days. Four dozen bulbs may be treated for a penny.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

School No. 2

At the opening fall meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 2 on Tuesday afternoon it was decided to furnish eyeglasses to students of the school whose parents were unable to finance the cost.

The meeting was largely attended with Mrs. John Form, president, presiding.

The banner for attendance was won by Miss Anna L. Whitbeck's class.

At the business session it was decided to set aside one room in the school in charge of an attendant where parents with younger children could leave them in safe keeping while they attended the meetings.

It was also planned to stage a membership drive beetween now and December 1, and all parents of children, who attend the school will be contacted and urged to become members of the association.

Chairmen of the various committees were named as follows: Program, Mrs. Clarence S. Rowland; membership and attendance, Mrs. Beatrice V. Custom of Stocking Up for the Winter Prevails in County

Homes of Region Reflect Tradition Of Colonial Days

Many Women Can Preserves and Quantities of Food Are Put in Storage for Later Use

This is the season when nature's flaming hues give hint of a pale, lifeless season to follow, and at its first signs, preparations begin for a lasting security in the home.

Even before the trees begin their seasonal blush, farmers are busy with the harvest and before the colors fade to drab browns, homes and barns are well stocked for the harsher days ahead.

The autumn scene today in Ulster county retains much of the character of former years and few areas throughout the nation could be more colorful at this time each year.

Homesteads in the rural areas still reflect customs of the pioneer days and many city families still retain the feeling of former generations in preparing for the winter. Large supplies of preserved foods are stored in cellars or in other available storage space and necessities from the markets are bought in larger quantities.

Modern city life, however, has lessened the need of stocking up for the winter, and the custom has lost out too, in many of the smaller communities, where housewives labored long hours, from the late summer to deep autumn, canning a variety of fruits and vegetables.

It is perhaps true today also that many modernly equipped farm homes, could forego the habit of laying in heavy supplies for the winter months, but most farms stay by the older traditions, and most farmers feel that home would never be the same for them, without a full cellar when the time arrives.

Numbered among the fondest memories of those, who have left the farm for life in the city, are those of the days, at this time of the year, when the home always seemed more homelike than at any other season.

Many a man, who has had his part in the farmyard chores, during earlier life, now vividly recalls the meaning of home at this season. Some still can smell the savory fumes from huge cooking pots on the kitchen range when the women folk put in full days at canning and others never will loose the memories of a well-stocked cellar.

Men, who today, are leaders in the world of business and public affairs, far away from their home at the cross-roads, also retain a feeling for the neatly stacked wood-pile, a share of which represented their own work with the axe. They remember too, their part in helping with the harvest and stocking up the barn with hay and ensilage.

All this still makes the truest picture of life as it should be lived, to most people who are honest with their feeling for home, and it is this side of homelife which seems to be losing out as the home itself gradually becomes something of a mechanized unit to fit into the scheme of things in a faster-moving civilization.

Now the city housewife, who once kept the heavy autumn schedule of her friend on the farm, considers the food market virtually at her fingertips in the home. An order placed by telephone with the grocer or butcher will bring quick results, or the food problem can be solved almost as quickly by a hurried trip to the store in the family car.

Winter now in the city and even in smaller communities is no longer the formidable season of the past. Heavy falls of snow are swept from main routes in a few hours and the way is made clear for trips to shopping districts.

Women of the rural areas, however, seem less inclined to change the older meanings of life on the farm, even in the face of all varieties of modern conveniences. It is still necessary to store up food for the livestock, and most farmers, in sensing this need, cannot neglect overlooking the home.

Some farm homes in Ulster county look much the same today as they did generations ago. The women combine more and efficient methods with their traditional way of doing things, but the change in the general effect of their work is often slight.

All kinds of fruits and vegetables grown on farms of the area are preserved as in the past and the final effect on the storage shelves, even in cellars electrically equipped and modernly heated, is much like that of older days.

Few farm homes of the nation could be more picturesque at harvest time than those in this county of colonial design. None could be more homelike at any season of the year, and many of them represent the best there is in the American rural setting.

Some city homes, in the more open residential areas, also operate today on the self-sufficient basis of former times in preparing for winter. Home-owners in the more humble districts preserve large shares of crops from their back-yard gardens and they believe in the feeling of security which comes with sufficient supplies to last until spring.

It was this annual and ancient custom of preparing for winter which gave rise to the American holiday of Thanksgiving and in the earlier pioneering days most colonial families had much to be thankful for if their homes were well supplied.

Even today all farmers are grateful if their crops measure up to expectations and while there hazards are less because of growing scientific advantages, much still depends upon nature itself, and in this respect each season's plantings have their uncertain prospects.

Many farmers of Ulster county this year have felt the effects of a sustained drouth in the summer, and such crops as corn have also been affected by menacing insects. Most crops, however, were not seriously lessened, and the farmers generally show little fear of the winter months ahead.

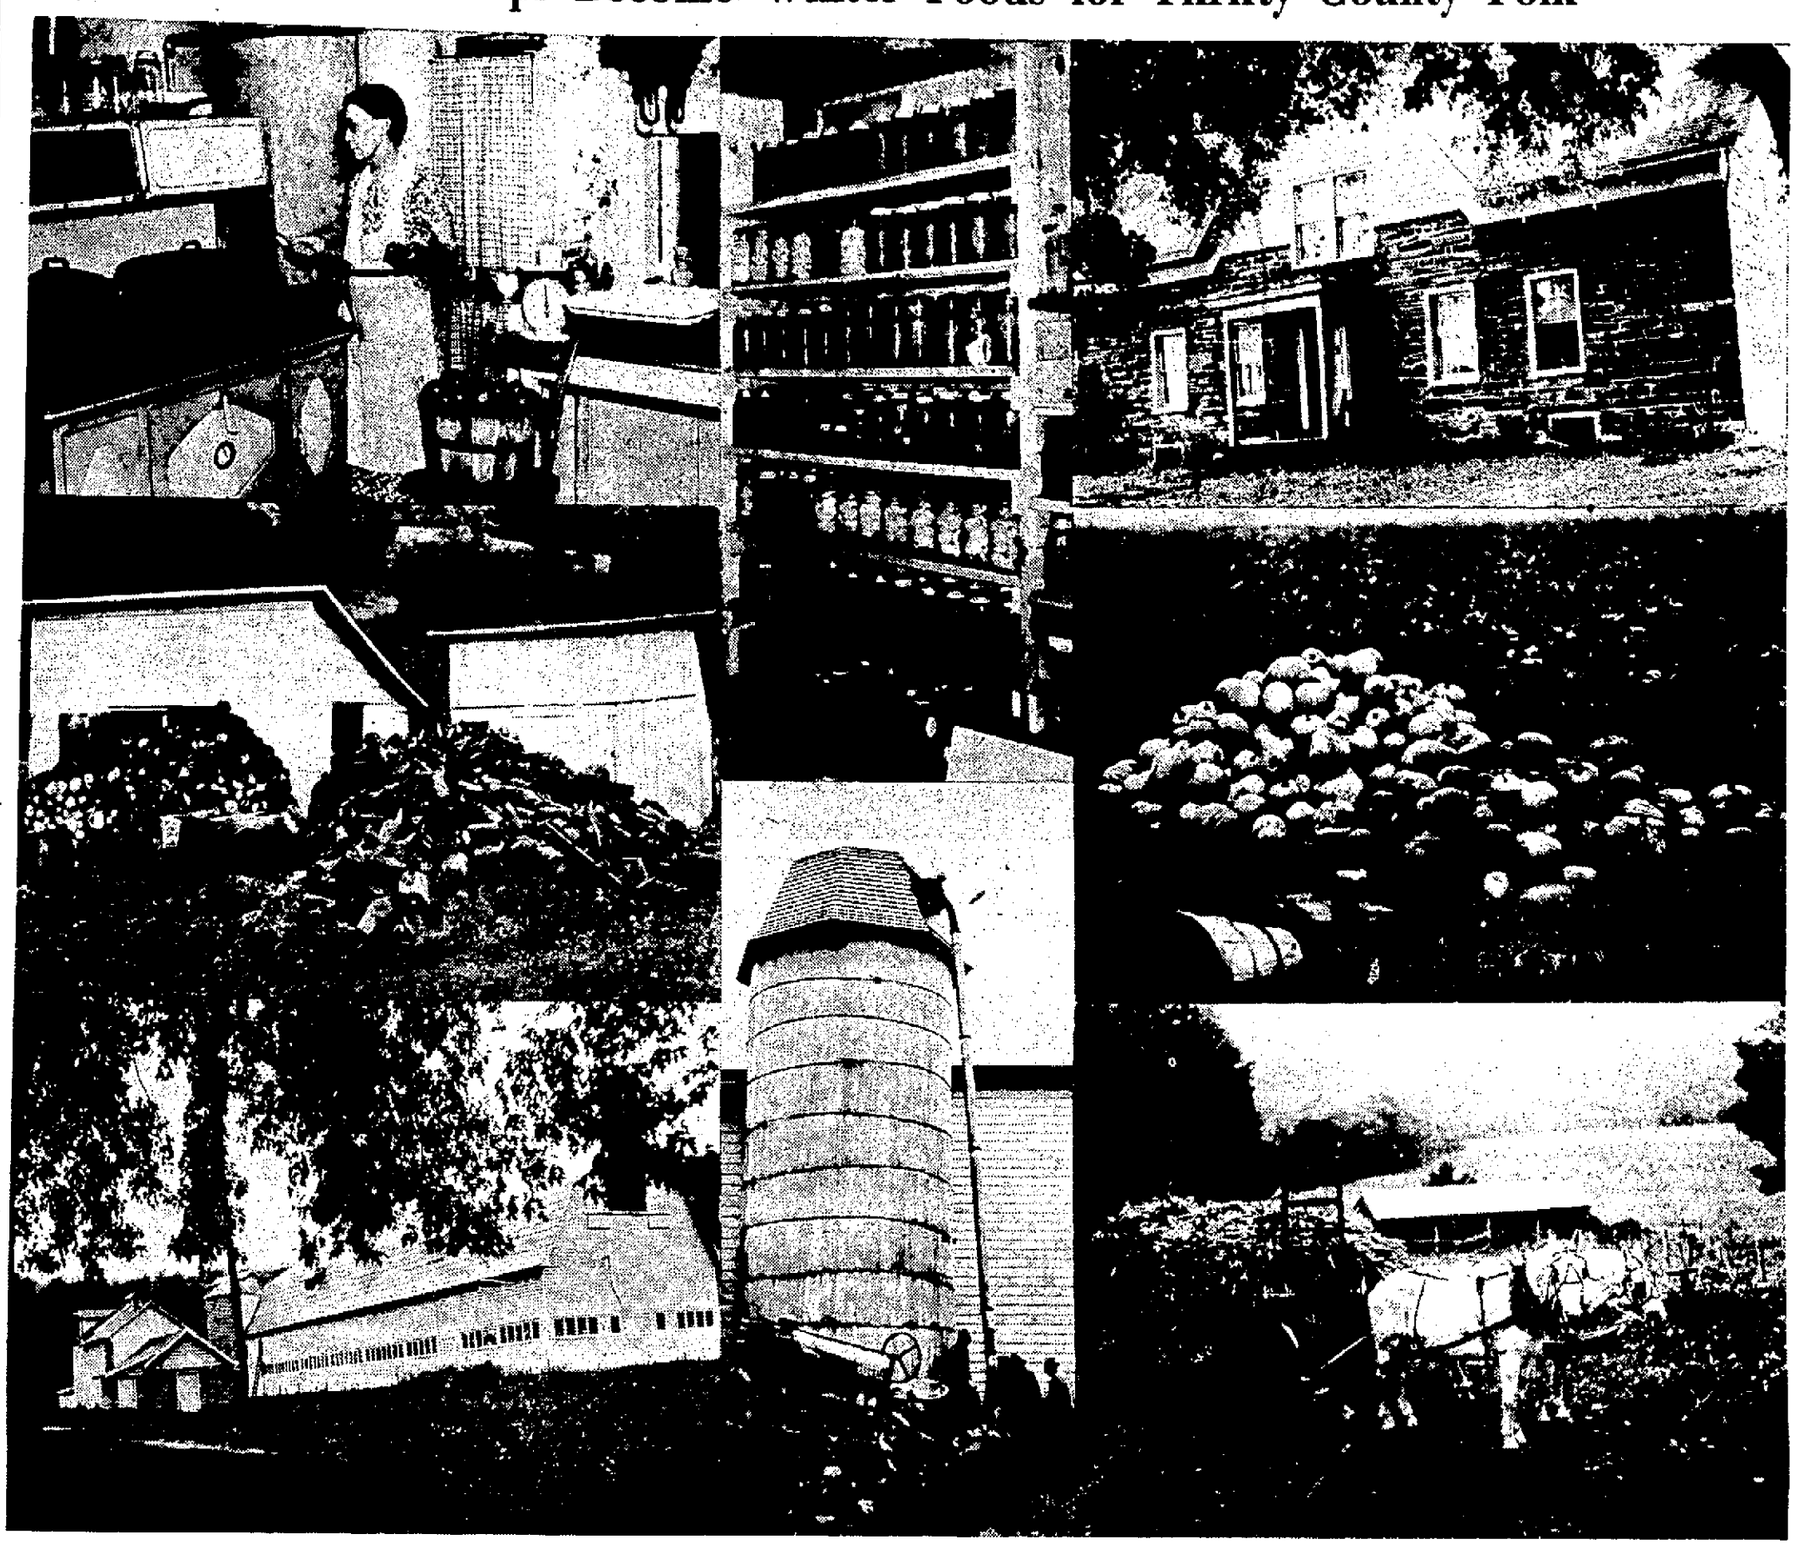
Summer Crops Become Winter Foods for Thrifty County Folk



Thoughts of winter begin in many county homes at the harvesting of late crops. Then begins the serious work of stocking up the cellar, the woodshed, potato bin, flour barrel and all supply corners which help along homelife when the frost comes and the snow flies. Tradition has deeply rooted this annual habit in farmers of this region and many homes in the city and smaller communities observe the practice much the same as housewives of former generations. Shown above is a typical housewife in an Ulster county farm home. She is Mrs. John Van Wagenen, of Lomontville, and is shown at her kitchen range facing the huge canning pots with fork and spoon in hand. On the chair is a basket of tomatoes freshly picked from the garden. At her left is a scale on which the fruits and vegetables and various ingredients are weighed before they go in the cans. At top center is a picture which should give any family a feeling of security. It was taken in the cellar of Mrs. Benj. Van Wagenen's house, also of Lomontville, and shows part of her supply of canned goods, neatly stacked on shelves. At top right is a typical county farm home in the same region, owned by Oliver Markle. At center left is part of the wood supply on the Markle farm and at right is a view of a pumpkin pile on a farm near Kingston. The view at lower left shows a typical group of barns in which the livestock winter supplies are kept. These are also on the Markle farm. The center bottom scene shows a group of men preparing to fill the silo on the Van Wagenen farm and at left is a load of cornstalks ready to go in.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Fourteen new members were chosen this week by the head of the Dramatic Club following a series of tryouts. The new members are as follows: Florence DeRuyter, Rose Abernethy, Charolotte Ecker, Marjorie Garland, Florence Jacobson, Virginia Johnson, Eileen McLaren, Patricia Matthews, Ann Netter, Margaret Schilling, Alma Viglielmo, Jack Johnson, John Steketee and Howard St. John. During the initial meeting the president, Elizabeth Glass, appointed Margaret Culver, Joan Dutcher, Donald Hicks, Robert Breithaupt and Richard Dumm to act as the judges in the tryouts. There will be another list of additional members chosen during the next few weeks.

One of the school's finest societies is assisting to promote cooperation through the corridors has begun operations again. Under the supervision of Clifford Miller the marshals have reorganized with a new list of members, who patrol the various corridors during the changing of classes every day. During the oncoming fall months when many football games will be played, there will be marshals stationed on the field to keep the spectators in the stands. The second plan which will be put into use is making the staff as much self-governing as possible. The marshals now serving in the halls are as follows: Dominic Alteri, Louis Bock, David Bogert, William Carle, James Castle, William Converty, William Dorld, Arnold Feddie, John Harder, Emanuel Kunst, John Mack, Frank Mazzucca, Sidney Pearson, Paul Pekin, Franklin Perry, William Sawyer, Everett Sawyer, Richard Seaton, Edwin Secor, Walter Schmitz, Harold Van Kleeck, Raymond Van Kleeck, Alfred Nussbaum and Conrad Wilzback.

When the enrollment statistics were tabulated recently, the figures included two additional girls from Yugoslavia. They are Vien-Charlotte Robinson, two refugees from Yugoslavia. They are Viennese-born. The two young women arrived in New York city about five or six months ago on the steamer Ile de France, coming directly from Paris.

Dame Rumor, the school's official news-organ, made its initial appearance on Wednesday of this week with new staff writers and special reporters. The staff is headed by four managing editors —Abram Molyneaux, Elbert Loughran, Richard Dumm and Charles Fawkner. The associate editors are Priscilla DuMond, Virginia Hoffman, Erma Tigar, Charles Kershaw, Mark Connelly and Leonard Lipgar. The sport page is directed by Clayton Brower, Eugene McConnell, John Steketee and Albert Sonnenberg. The business end of the paper is in the hands of Genevieve Whiteley, Elwood Robinson, Hubert Hoderath and Jules Viglielmo.

At the last meeting of the Tri-Hi Club a new slate of officers was presented to the members, including: President, Elizabeth Schoonmaker; vice president, Mary Collins; secretary, Dolores Gillen, and treasurer, Florence Jacobson. Virginia Leudtke and Helen Reese were listed as advisors, while Elizabeth Glass is the department head of the program committee. The nominating committee, which issued the names of the above mentioned leaders, included Shirley Dunham, Virginia Luedtke and Genevieve Montelone.

MJM News

Harry Streifer supervised the first session of the Myron J. Michael School dramatic club recently which saw one of the largest turnouts in attendance. In the near future another meeting will be held at which time a new body of officers will be voted upon. During the fall or winter months the society has expectations of presenting a play.

Charlotte Cooper, Dorothy Walters, Joyce Kershaw and Walter Joyce have been selected to play in the assemblies. Room 20 will have a debate this week on the subject "That City Children Have a Better Chance for an Education than Country Children." From a list of 50 hopefuls Leonard Stine is expected to select only 20 for the Glee Club of the M. J. M. School.

In Room 19 at the high school, which is next to the principal's office, the school's guidance department is ready to assist any and all students who have some particular problem facing them. Scholars desiring to discuss their problems may make appointments with Henry Dunbar. In the past years many students have voiced trouble in finding solutions to such problems as these: Adjustment of their program to Kingston High diploma requirements and college entrance requirements; choice of a school or college; choice of and information concerning occupations; self analysis and various problems of personal adjustment. Conference applications may be secured from the students' roll call teacher.

The music department, which formerly offered one course, has been enlarged. The department now offers Voice Training 1 and 2 and Rudiments of Music. At the present time Leonard Stine is conducting large classes in each of the above subjects.

Speaking to Strangers

Dear Mrs. Post: In traveling about on trains and boats, and when seated with strangers in public dining-room, should one or should one not nod pleasantly to others at the table, and throughout the meal maintain friendly conversation?

Answer: On a long voyage or coast to coast journey, or in a family type of hotel where you find yourself seated next to the same people for several days, you always speak to them after the first meal—and possibly at the first. This does not mean a steady flow of conversation, but merely a readiness to make a remark if something encourages it or to reply to what may be said to you. On a train or transient boat or in a tea room where you sit beside a total stranger for a meal, or perhaps only a fragment of a meal, most people prefer to be left unnoticed. But if some one sitting at the table with you looks at you wistfully as if she would like to speak, and you feel inclined to be friendly, then smile and say something by all means. If you don't like to talk, then answering in monosyllables will perhaps discourage them. Rules against speaking to strangers are naturally more strict in the case of a man and a woman than in the case of a woman to a woman, or a man to a man. In fact, men always feel free to talk because they are also free to indicate to each other that they want to be left alone.

The Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: We are, as you have undoubtedly already noticed, stationers, and consequently we engrave many wedding invitations and announcements. Lately we have had a customer oppose our suggestion that she and her husband—who is the bride's stepfather, her own father being dead—send the invitations in both names, this way: "Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Blank . . . request the honour of your presence . . . at the marriage of their daughter . . . Jane Alice Smith, etc." The mother of the bride in this case feels that we should engrave "Miss" before her daughter's name, because without the "Miss" in this instance, she holds that people who are strangers to the bride's family may believe the bride a divorcee or a widow, since her name is not that of the parents. We had never run into ents. We had never run into this argument before, but we must admit that this customer's argument is not without sense. What do you think about it?

Answer: This is one of those questions which assume the curious point of view that all the people coming to the wedding are total strangers. After all, it seems to me reasonable to assume that people who will be guests at the wedding know the bride well enough to know that she is unmarried, and know her mother well enough to know that she was formerly Mrs. Smith. In other words, if invitations were sent to total strangers, the reason would be a good one. And yet, even so, there should be no necessity to explain that the bride is "Miss" since a big wedding with engraved invitations is improper for a woman's second marriage. As to announcements: It is true these are sometimes sent after a widow's (not a divorcee's) second marriage. But the friends of the groom who do not know her can easily find out whom Jim has married—if they have any great interest! If they have no interest, it doesn't matter!

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad, however, to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "What To Wear and When." B sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post in care of this paper, P. O. Jewels Are Safe

Chicago, Sept. 30 (AP)—Newsstand clerks in the North Western Station rummaged nervously through a stack of magazines yesterday, located a pink cardboard box and popped it into the station safe. The box belongs to Mrs. J. Allen Smith of Harrison, N. Y., who wired that it contained jewelry valued at $100,000. She said she laid it down at the newsstand last night and didn't miss it until her train reached Clinton, Iowa. Railroad officials assured her by telegraph the box had been found and that it would be mailed to her destination, Reno, Nev.

Indicted on Liquor Charge

New York, Sept. 29 (Special)—Nicholas Cerrato and John Sesa were indicted by a Federal Grand Jury here today for the illicit transportation through Ulster county of distilled spirits. The complaint alleges that Cerrato hired Sesa, at the rate of $3 a day, to carry the liquor in a Dodge sedan. Overt acts mention meetings at a garage at North Front and North Chestnut streets, New Paltz, and at another garage, 421 Albany avenue, Kingston. The defendants will be arraigned for pleading shortly.

PORT EWEN

Special Evening Service

Port Ewen, Sept. 30—Tomorrow being Rally Day there will be a special evening service in the Reformed Church at 7:30 o'clock, to which the public is cordially invited. There will be special music and at this time the officers of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society will be installed. The Rev. Roger K. Powell of Kingston will deliver the inspirational address. The service is sponsored by the Junior Christian Endeavor Group and it is hoped that the congregation will attend and support these young people.

SUPREME COURT, County of Ulster—Rondout Savings Bank, Plaintiff, against Charlotte E. Dolson, Chester A. Dolson, Evelyn V. Dolson, Ulster Fuel Oil Heat & Power Co., Inc., Chester A. Miller, doing business under the trade name of Carl Miller & Son, New York Telephone Company, A. R. Baeuser Company, Milton H. Friedberg, Receiver of The Parrott Varnish Company, Knyser & Allman, and Superintendent of Insurance of the State of New York, as Conservator of the assets of the Union Indemnity Company, Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's office, in the above-entitled action, on the 15th day of September, 1939, I, the undersigned referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction on the 11th day of October, 1939, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the Ulster County Court House, in the City of Kingston, N. Y., the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

Parcel "A". ALL THAT LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate on the northeasterly side of Broadway, in the said City of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y., bounded and described as follows, viz:— Beginning at a monument set in the ground at the northwest corner of land now or formerly of Mrs. Margaret A. Chambers, and running thence along the northeasterly side of Broadway North 54 degrees 11 minutes West 36 4/10 feet to a monument; thence North thirty-eight degrees seven minutes East 107 75/100 feet to a monument; thence North 34 degrees ten minutes East 216 feet, more or less, to the land of The Ulster and Delaware Railroad; thence as the fence now stands South 36 degrees twenty-six minutes East 30 6/10 feet to a fence post on the northerly line of land late of Mrs. Margaret A. Chambers; thence South 34 degrees 10 minutes West 314 4/10 feet to the place of beginning. The above description being from a survey made by E. B. Codwise, C. E., January 15, 1894. Being the same premises conveyed by Margaret Dolson to Walter C. Dolson, by deed dated January 20, 1894, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's office in Book of Deeds No. 315, page 328, Jan. 24, 1894.

Parcel "B". Also, ALL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the City of Kingston, in the County of Ulster and State of New York, on the northerly side of Broadway and in the rear of the premises formerly occupied by said Margaret Dolson, and bounded and described as follows:— Beginning at a stone in the ground one hundred and seven feet and seventy-five hundredths of a foot (107.75) from Broadway on the line between land of Margaret Dolson and Walter C. Dolson; and running thence North fifty-one degrees and forty-three minutes West ten feet and seven-tenths of a foot (10.7) to a stone; thence North thirty-six degrees and twenty-five minutes East about two hundred and eighteen feet (218) to a stone set in the ground on the bounds of The Ulster and Delaware Railroad; thence South thirty-six degrees and twenty-six minutes East along said bounds two feet and one-tenth of a foot (2.1) to the northeast corner of lands formerly of said Walter C. Dolson; thence South thirty-four degrees and ten minutes West two hundred and sixteen feet and one-tenth (216.1) of a foot to the place of beginning. Being the same premises conveyed by Margaret Dolson to Walter C. Dolson by deed dated May 5, 1894, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's office on May 8, 1894, in Book of Deeds No. 317, page 346.

Parcel "C". ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, and on the northeasterly side of Broadway, between Elmendorf Street and St. James Street, and between the northwesterly and southeasterly boundary lines of the premises of the party of the first part as extended on the same courses, from the old northeasterly street line of Broadway as originally laid out, and the northeasterly street line of Broadway as established by a survey and map (Map No. 95 on file in the City Engineer's office) made by D. T. Van Buren, C. E., in 1874, and adopted by the Common Council of the City of Kingston, and as said Broadway is now laid out and used. Being the same premises as conveyed to the party of the first part hereto by the City of Kingston, by indenture of deed dated October 13, 1927; acknowledged October 14, 1927; and recorded April 25, 1928 in Liber 530 of Deeds, at page 581, Ulster County Clerk's office.

Parcel "D". Also, ALL THAT TRACT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, lying, being and situate on the northeasterly side of Broadway, in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:— Beginning at a monument set in the ground on the northeasterly side of Broadway thirty-six and four-tenths (36.4) feet northwesterly from the northwest corner of lands formerly of Margaret A. Chambers; and running thence along the northeasterly side of Broadway north fifty-four degrees eleven minutes (54° 11') west forty-six and twenty-six hundredths (42.26) feet to a point; thence along lands now or formerly of Alvah R. Elmendorf, lands now or formerly of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company and others north thirty-four degrees ten minutes (34° 10') east three hundred and forty-one (341) feet, more or less, to lands of the Ulster and Delaware Railroad; thence along said lands of the Ulster and Delaware Railroad south thirty-six degrees twenty-six minutes (36° 26') east fifty-four and five-tenths (54.5) feet, more or less, to a stone monument; thence south thirty-six degrees twenty-five minutes (36° 25') west two hundred and eighteen (218) feet, more or less, to a stone monument; thence south fifty-one degrees forty-three minutes (51° 43') east ten and seven-tenths (10.7) feet to a stone monument; thence south thirty-eight degrees seven minutes (38° 07') west one hundred and seven and seventy-five hundredths (107.75) feet to the place of beginning. Being the same premises conveyed to Walter C. Dolson by Joseph S. Dolson and others by deed dated March 26, 1901, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office in Book of Deeds No. 364, at page 303, on April 17, 1901. Said Walter C. Dolson died intestate on November 11, 1913, seized of the above described premises, which thereupon descended to his only heir-at-law, the said Chester Arthur Dolson, party of the first part hereto.

Dated, September 15, 1939.

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

YESTERDAY. Trying to show Tim what Iris is like, Buff tells him Iris's confession. He resents Buff's interference, and refuses to believe a word of it. Buff is determined to discover what Iris is up to.

Chapter 24

Tricking The Trickstera

BUFF poured out to George the story of her last talk with Iris.

"But look here!" George exclaimed excitedly. "If she practically admitted she did that last summer, there's nothing to it. All we have to do is to tell Tim and he——"

She shook her head. "I told him last night. It didn't do the least bit of good. It only made him more determined to defend her. No, George, we've got to work from the other angle—from Iris herself. She's up to something, and the published announcement of her engagement to Tim is what it all hangs on. Don't ask me how I know. Part intuition, perhaps, and part cold reasoning. The point is, I do know. Now here is what I want you to do, George. Go to Iris and offer to buy back that land at what she paid for it, at what you bought it for from Latshaw."

Horrified astonishment took possession of him. "Are you crazy, Buff? Just when Tim and I are on our feet again, when I've convinced myself all over again that there is a Santa Claus who puts nice fat checks in my sock, Christmas or no Christmas, now you want to barge in and ruin everything. She'll snap at the offer, of course."

"If she does, it'll prove that she's straight, George, and will make Tim a good wife. Surely you'll be willing to pay that much for his happiness But"—her most urchin-like grin deepened the corners of her mouth—"ten thousand dollars says she isn't straight, George, that she won't sell it, I mean," she went on, seeing his face vacant with bewilderment, "that's what you'd lose if you bought it. I'm betting you exactly that sum she won't sell it. Take me up?"

He thought a long time, his hands on his knees, his forhead corrugated with puzzled consideration.

"I get you!' he announced at last. "And, by golly, I believe you're right! No, of course I won't take your bet, Buff. I hope I'm as good a sport as you're proving yourself to be. I'll offer to buy the land. Tim certainly can't object to taking his half of it, considering the circumstances. If she accepts, I lose ten thousand dollars and you——"

"Lose Tim," she said steadily. "But we're not going to lose, George. That land is the other half of her scheme. The announcement of her engagement to Tim completes it. Things'll begin to happen very soon. Tomorrow you hustle around to her, tell her you're happy about the trouble between her and Tim being ironed out——"

"Be damned if I will!" he exploded.

"You do as I say! Act like a nice polite young gen'leman. Then tell her you want to buy the land back; that you have a conscience as well as she, and you can't bear the idea of her being loaded up with all that useless land. Don't threaten, and don't come right out and tell her that your acceptance of her as Tim's wife—no as his fiancée—depends on her selling out to you. Then watch her. I predict she'll protest that she will never, never rob you consciously as she did unconsciously last summer. The more closely you press her, the more she'll retreat. You'll walk out without any deal having been made. Which proves——"

"That there's dirty work afoot," he interrupted with rising excitement. "And I sort of think I could look into my crystal—supposing I had a crystal and powers of prophecy and was the seventh son of a seventh son and born with a caul—and outline the shape of that work. But where Tim comes in I don't quite see."

'Marry Me!'

"DON'T you? Supposing there was a——"

"New buyer for the land!"

"—and Latshaw or Iris, or both working together, had convinced him by fake tests that——"

"—the mines were what we thought 'em last August——"

"But one last bit of proof was needed, one thing that would clinch the deal so that our imaginary buyer would not call in other experts——"

"—and our buyer, who's not so darned imaginary at that! knows Tim by reputation——"

"And Iris says carelessly that Tim paid twenty thousand for it as a pre-nuptial gift to her——"

"—having, of course, the deed in her possession to flourish before his credulous eyes——"

"Then the only thing lacking would be the absolute, direct proof that they are engaged! And here," she said simply, laying her hand on the paper, "is the proof in black and white."

Weekes gave a whoop of pure joy. "What a stupid ass I've been not to see it! Stupider than Tim because of course he's trying to believe Iris is straight, and I've known all along she isn't! Oh, Buff, Buff! What a gal you are! Hey, marry me, Buff, and we'll go places in this world."

"Sorry, lamb, but I love another!" She tried to throw dramatic seriousness into her voice but it quivered just a bit. "To get on with our idea of this business: why, says the imaginary buyer to himself, would a man pay twenty thousand dollars for a couple of holes in the ground, plus some acres which bear only scrub pine and kinnikinnick, unless he knew it was worth all that and more; and a mining engineer and assayer usually knows—not believes, he'll reason, but knows it is worth far more? So he walks into the Latshaw-Iris trap, baited with the same piece of cheese which caught you and Tim last summer."

"Yep! But what'll be Iris's excuse for offering him the land—if it's an engagement or wedding present from Tim to her?"

She threw him a glance of triumph. "Sweet, foolish Iris doesn't realize what she's doing, don't you see? Our buyer thinks he's putting something over on her — on Tim. She prattles girlishly about wanting the money for her trousseau, or a house which she, in turn, will give Tim for a wedding present—something like that. Yes, I know that presupposes the buyer is a trifle off color. Of course he is! Would Iris and Latshaw be doing business with anyone who wasn't?"

George winced. "Tim and I," he suggested.

"Oh, well, the strictly honorable and innocent fall into that class, too," Buff assured him. "I know! Lance—my father—has often told me that the really honest business man is the one who's been taken in a time or two by scoundrels. Before that he thinks everyone is as scrupulously honest as himself. Lance should know!" his daughter concluded with a grin.

Sketch

"ALL right. We've sketched the plot of this business very nicely. What happens next?"

"Nothing—so far as you are concerned. You go about your business as usual, for it's you Iris and Latshaw—if it is Latshaw who is working with her—will be watching. But I'll be on the job. By the way, could you get me a photograph of Latshaw? So I'd recognize him if I saw him?"

"'Fraid not. He didn't go in for having himself photographed during his brief stay here. But I can do better than that for you." He drew toward him several sheets of paper which he coolly took from her desk. "Didn't know I could sketch, did you? I darned near became an artist myself. Wish to thunder I had, now! Lookit! Here's Latshaw full face. Notice the thin lips, the little pouches beneath his eyes. I fancy they'll be emphasized now. He's a hard drinker, you know.

"Here's his profile. See the tiny jut in the nose? Broke it, perhaps, years ago. Dark brown hair, getting a bit thin on top." He touched his own sadly. "Eyes sometimes hazel, sometimes gray; gray when he's keyed up, always. Tanned—well, that was last summer, of course, but I rather think he'll show traces of it yet. He fools about mining regions even in the winter, and you know what the winds can do in high altitudes. Think you'd recognize him from these?"

She studied the hasty sketches with half closed eyes. "Sure of it. George, you can draw! Van would give his ears to have your talent."

"He'd look better without 'em—his ears, I mean. Oh, yes, I can draw well enough. That's not the trouble. The trouble is I haven't any imagination. I was born to be an engineer. I adore surveying, out-door work of all kinds All right, Buff. You're running this affair. I'm taking my orders from you. It's going to be infernally hard for me to be decent to Tim about this engagement, but if you think——"

"I not only think, I know! Nobody's asking you to wring Tim's hand in joyful congratulation; or to go around chortling with delight over it all. But you can—and must!—be civil to him, keep your friendship as it is. I'd just as soon," she went on thoughtfully, "that you weren't too cordial to Iris about it. She'd be on her guard if you suddenly changed your attitude toward her."

Buff was not surprised to have Iris call her that same evening. She had counted on Tim's silence in regard to his last talk with her. She had been a little puzzled, in fact, that Miss DeMuth had not called before. Buff Carroll was a card she no longer needed in her hand; but it was not like Iris to overlook the slightest advantage. Her first words to Buff explained the day's silence.

"Did you see it in the paper?" she asked triumphantly. "Darling, I would have told you this morning but I had to be in Denver all day. Just got back, in fact. I suppose you've been trying to get hold of me. Well, was I right, or was I right?"

"You were right," was Buff's meek reply. "I hope you'll be happy, Iris, whatever comes to you."

They chatted in this vein for a few moments, then Iris brought the conversation to a close. "Tim's here, and the old foolish is jealous even of you!"

Buff hung up with a wry little face.

My Road!

Give me a road, an old lost road,
that winds across a bridge;
A road that curving, twisting goes and climbs a ragged ridge.
Give me a road where daisies white
are emblems of happy homes;
Where wheatfields blow and farmers toil, and I may sit alone
By rambling barn or old rail fence with a loved and treasured book;
Or let it run, uncharted, free, by some violet-haunted nook.
Give me a road that's lost its way
when wandering on too far,
Where trees hang low and night is dark, blessed by one golden star;
Give me this road, so peaceful,
still, for soon I know I'll see
An old white house where friendly hearts will there be greeting me.

Traffic Officer—Hey, here, who do you think you are?

Driver—Oh, I'm just one of the taxpayers who pays your salary for insulting us.

Hank Johnson said
His car couldn't skid.
This monument proves
That it could and did.

Here's a come-back for the garage-man if the doctor has tried to scare him:

Mechanic—Hey, Bill!

Garage Owner—What is it?

Mechanic—The doctor is outside here with a flat tire.

Garage Owner—Diagnose the case of flatulency of the perimeter and charge him $5.

Forty and fifty years ago it was the ambition of every young man to own a horse and buggy worth about $100 so he could take his best girl out riding . . . Now the young man wants an $800 to $1,000 automobile to perform that service . . . And, it may be observed, that a larger number are now able to get the automobile than were able to get the horse and buggy in the old days.

Young Doctor—I took my new car to have it repaired and the garage man charged me $200.

Old Medico—You could get a new bus for that.

Young Doctor—Well, you see, he didn't know what was the matter with it so he called a consultation.

Avoid that "run-down" feeling by being careful.

New Salesman—A gentleman asks if this flannel shirt will shrink?

Proprietor—Does it fit him?

New Salesman—No, its too large.

Proprietor—Yes, of course it shrinks

One of the first pieces we ever learned to speak: "Love without romance is like a ship without a sail. But the oddest thing in life is a shirt without a tail."

Mary gave notice that she was going to be married:

Mistress—Of course. I don't want to put any obstacle in the way of your getting married, Mary, but I wish it were possible for you to postpone your wedding until I can get another maid.

Mary—Well, mum, I hardly think I know him well enough to ask him to put it off.

George—My wife explored my pockets last night.

Man—What did she get?

George—About the same as any other explorer—enough material for a lecture.

Yes, Sir, we can remember when most every husband boasted that his wife was the best mother in town instead of being the best bridge player.

Church Group Meets

New Paltz, Sept. 29.—The Seekers' Class and Home Department of the Methodist Church met for their September business meeting in the church parlor on Tuesday. President, Mrs. Morgan Coutant, presided. Mrs. Wayne Wiseman led the devotions, consisting of Scripture, prayer, singing, and a reading by Mrs. Elmer Bostock. The business session followed with roll call reports, much new business was discussed and fall work planned. Communications were read, including a letter from the widow of the Rev. Costanio Mercado of the Philippine Islands, with whom the class and department have corresponded and assisted in various ways for several years. The Rev. Mr. Mercado died in June. Those present at the meeting were: Mrs. Morgan Coutant, Mrs. Raymond Hasbrouck, Mrs. Wayne Wiseman, Mrs. Harry Gerow, Mrs. Abel Quick, Mrs. Harry Oakley, Mrs. Oscar Sutherland, Mrs. Leslie Oakley and daughter, Joan; Mrs. Gelis and son, Mrs. Elmer Bostock, Mrs. Frank Gulnac and Mrs. John Christensen. The October meeting will be held in the church parlor. Members of the class will sell Christmas cards as in former years for the benefit of the class and department treasury. A social time followed the meeting with the president treating all with candy.

Musk and Perfume

Musk is the name originally given to a perfume obtained from the strong-smelling substance secreted in a gland by the musk-deer. This gland is present beneath the skin of the abdomen in the male only. The sac contains a dark brown substance of the consistency of moistened gingerbread. To obtain the perfume the animal is killed and the gland completely removed and dried. It appears in commerce as either "musk in the pod," that is in the whole gland, or "musk in grain" in which the perfume has been extracted. Good musk is of a dark purplish color, dry, smooth and unctuous and bitter in taste. Its scent is not only more penetrating but more persistent than that of any other known substance.

Immense areas of Utah and Nevada were covered by lakes in the Pleistocene period.

Local Red Cross Seeks Aid In Carrying Out Program

Complying with the recent request from the National Red Cross for all chapters to organize for hard work, the Ulster County Chapter held a meeting of the executive committee September 12 to discuss plans for making the required garments and knitting for the unfortunate war victims in foreign countries. The chapter has done little in production work during the past few years outside of knitting and making kits for soldiers in this country for Christmas gifts as the results of the annual drives for membership, have not been sufficient to carry on this work on a very large scale, but now orders have again come and must be met.

As was announced at this meeting, the chapter has a reserve fund of about $2,000, derived from the sale of materials after the World War, which has been kept in reserve for a possible emergency. The national organization feels that any available money should be used, so it was voted to use this amount to purchase materials and supplies necessary. As the price of all materials and wool is advancing rapidly, the chapter realizes that amount will not go far toward production work on a large scale. Any contributions of money toward the purchase of materials will be gratefully accepted.

At the Executive Committee meeting, Judge Hasbrouck, the chairman of the Ulster County Chapter, appointed a committee, consisting of Mrs. Frederic Holcomb and Mrs. Myron Teller, to secure a suitable place to carry on this work, and through the kindness of Mayor Heiselman, the chapter was given the use of two large, light rooms in the Municipal Auditorium. Mr. Steuding, of the Board of Public Works, is very generously equipping these rooms with the necessary tables, chairs and shelving.

Through the splendid cooperation of the factories in Kingston, many garments are being cut. This is a tremendous assistance to the chapter and greatly appreciated.

Several sewing machines have been loaned and given for the work by individuals and by the WPA. At a meeting of the council of women held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, September 21, considerable progress was made in securing volunteers to assist in the work, as chairmen and on various committees. These names are published below. It is hoped to have some work ready to start on Tuesday morning, October 3, at 9:30 o'clock, upstairs at the Municipal Auditoroum on Broadway, where all those who can assist with sewing or knitting will be welcome. Later on the chapter shall be called upon to make surgical dressings in addition to the present work. It hopes to form units for sewing in some of the chapter branches and auxiliaries, as the needs increase. Already the British Red Cross and French Red Cross, have cabled for dressings, hospital garments, clothing and other materials.

Taxpayers Favor Buying Pumper

High Falls, Stpt. 30—Taxpayers of the High Falls Fire District voted Thursday night to raise $3,000 by a bond issue to purchase a new 500-gallon pumper completely equipped. An allowance for the truck now owned by the company will be included in the cost.

All of the 44 taxpayers, who voted, were in favor of the proposal. Roy E. Ransom acted as chairman of the meeting and Hubert Smith and William S. Quick, were inspectors of ballots.

The present truck, was purchased by the local fire department in 1932 as a reconditioned apparatus. The new truck will have a 300-gallon booster tank.

A new firemen's hall was built by the company in 1934. The company now has over 50 members and with addition of the new pumper will be on of the best equipped volunteer fire companies in the county.

Caucus at Milton Has Two Contests

There was plenty of interest in the caucus of Republican voters of the town of Marlborough, held in St. James Hall, Milton, Friday night for the purpose of nominating candidates for town offices to be filled at the coming election. Thomas McManus was chairman and George Rusk secretary of the meeting, which was attended by over 300 people.

There were contests for two offices. For town superintendent of highways, Joseph F. Morrow won out over Lemuel Conn and in the four-cornered fight for the nomination for collector, during which it was necessary to take three ballots, William J. Walsh, Jr., defeated Lloyd Reese, Bert Taber and John Young.

Albert D. Kniffin of Marlborough was named to succeed himself as supervisor. Other nominations were:

Olaf Sundstrom, town clerk.

William J. Walsh, Jr., collector.

Joseph F. Morrow, superintendent of highways.

Anthony Papandrea, Jr., assessor four years.

Carl G. Andrews, assessor two years.

John Rusk, Jr., and Gifford H. Hallock, justices of the peace, full terms.

Robert W. Cole, school director.

The committee on vacancies is: Calvin E. Staples, Thomas McManus, Edward Young, Sr.

Despite war in Europe and the fact that wheat will, as usual, help win it, there will be no necessity for bread substitutes in this country. Officials of the American Institute of Baking at Rockefeller Center in New York declare that wheat supplies in the United States are ample and that American bakers will continue to produce the types of bread that everyone wants, without the addition of corn, potatoes, or the other substitutes required during the last World War.

Foes of Federal Milk Pact Attempting To Reopen Litigation in Supreme Court

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Opponents of the federal milk marketing program in New York drew on developments in the field of international "power politics" today in their efforts to reopen litigation before the supreme court, which opens its fall term Monday.

Willard R. Pratt, Utica attorney who asked the court to reconsider its decision of last June upholding the constitutionality of the marketing order, compared the program with the "Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis" and said the Dairymen's League interest in milk producers was comparable to Nazi Adolf Hitler's interest in oppressed minorities.

During arguments before the court last spring, charges were made that the marketing program was promoted by the Dairymen's League, largest cooperative in the state, and its terms drawn to favor the league and the big milk handlers, such as Borden's and Sheffield.

"This program has become a League - Borden - Sheffield axis, comparable to the recently formed Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis," said Pratt in a brief filed with the court after oral arguments last spring.

"In the high pressure propaganda to put over this program we find terms which have recently become of daily use. We find that farmers are 'angered' by the appearance of anyone in opposition to the (milk) order; their 'patience is exhausted;' 'they wont wait long.'"

Pratt, attorney for the Jetter Dairy Company, Inc., one of the four handlers and cooperatives who challenged the constitutionality of the milk program, petitioned the court to reconsider its decision, expressing belief "the court overlooked and misapprehended a number of points which might have resulted in a decision favorable," to his client.

Education Board Grants Hospital Auditorium Use

the commercial department modern. The first step had been the purchase of 10 new machines to replace a like number of machines which had been used for many years, some of them 10 years. There had been an allowance of $165 on the old machines and new ones were purchased at a cost of $70 each, making a cash total of $535 for ten new machines.

Prof. Laidlaw stated that by trading in machines at the end of three years money would be saved as the allowances for machines was more and there would be practically no repair bills. The department would always have new type machines and it would be cheaper in the long run. He said a scheme was being worked out to replace certain machines each year until the entire 74 machines had been replaced and in future a few machines could be replaced each year.

Mr. Katz reported awarding contracts for electrical supplies to various firms. Kolt's Electric was awarded a contract of $245.-70; Canfield's $8.40 and Herzog's $15.50. A new switch gear was purchased for $986 and cabinets for health records for all schools at a cost of $556. A lathe also needed in the vocational school was purchased for $580.26. The report of Trustee Katz was adopted by the board.

Trustee Feeney for the Building Committee reported grading at the Myron J. Michael school progressing, and would be shortly completed. The sod to be placed along the driveway in front of the high school, recently widened, will be laid the first of the week and sodding will then follow at the Myron J. Michael school as authorized by the Board last meeting.

The Board also authorized use of the Michael gym by the Mayor's Recreation Committee for basketball games on nights when the Kingston High School team played at the municipal auditorium.

Superintendent Laidlaw reported attending the high school assembly and spoke of the splendid time he had with the students. He told the board that "God Bless America," written by Irving Berlin had been one of the songs sung and he said that never in the history of the country had there been need for the display of patriotism as now. The song had also been introduced in the grade schools.

The Night School will shortly start. A meeting of the Teachers committee was held after the regular board session to discuss this problem.

Superintendent Laidlaw also called attention to the State Board Association which will be held the third week in November in Syracuse and suggested that any of the board members who could do so attend the session.

Trp With Car Brings $5 Fine

Mrs. Patricia DeGroodt, 23, of 149 Glen street, was arrested early this morning for operating an automobile without having a chauffeur's or operator's license. When arrested she had her ten-months-old baby with her.

Later in police court Mrs. DeGroodt entered a plea of guilty to the charge. She told Judge Cahill that she had never had a license to operate a car, but had used it only when she considered it necessary. She said she would never touch the car again until she had a license to drive.

Judge Cahill imposed a fine of $5, and warned her that if she was again arrested for a similar offense the penalty would be much more severe.

Congregation to Meet

The annual meeting of the Congregation Ahavath Israel will be held Sunday evening, October 1, at 8 p. m. at vestry rooms. Election of officers will be held and financial reports of the year will be given. Refreshments will be served by the ladies auxiliary.

Entrott Is Given Gold Signet Ring Upon Retirement

Policeman Winfield Entrott, who retired at noon today as a member of the Kingston police department, was presented with a gold signet ring at a meeting of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association held at police headquarters at noon.

The presentation was made by Officer Edward J. Leonard, president of the association.

The ring is of hammered yellow gold while the signet bears a reproduction of Shield No. 9, that worn by Officer Entrott, which is in white gold.

Officer Entrott while retiring from police duty is not retiring from active work for he will conduct the new Stadium Restaurant on North Front street.

Officer Entrott became a member of the police force on May 1, 1920. Several years ago he was injured in the course of duty, and never fully recovered from his injuries, which led to his filing his resignation, which was accepted earlier in the year by the Board of Police Commissioners.

Ten Days as Vagrant

John Paul Webster, 27, who said he had no permanent home, was arrested at New Paltz Friday by Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein on a charge of vagrancy. Justice Barnes gave him 10 days in the Ulster county jail.

Home-grown celery dominates the market only at certain times of the year, as at present. From January through May, most of it comes, by rail or boat, from Florida; shipments from California reach their peak in December and January.

A bulletin board on the kitchen wall with reminders and messages is helpful to the family in many households.

Rummage Sale

Auxiliary 53 of Tappen Camp, No. 1, Sons and Union Veterans of the Civil War, will hold a rummage sale October 2, 3 and 4 at 628 Broadway. Members of the auxiliary are requested to donate articles for the sale.

Winter's Mode Makes Heads Reel – By Its Diversity

Patou shows what can be done with hip draperies in this slim small-waisted satin frock of very dark winter blue—one of the new shades.

By ADELAIDE KERR
(AP Fashion Editor)

A tiny little waist leads the news in winter fashions. It's the one important feature of the new silhouette on which the fashion world agrees.

Most of the new clothes have small snug waistlines, nipped in over corsets, whose return to fashion has caused as great a style stampede as the flapper's discard of them after the last World War. Corsets are talked of everywhere.

Aside from the small waists, however, the fashion world has turned from a rigid dictatorship in the mode, launching a season of great variety and independence in clothes. The diversity of lines displayed in continued fashion parades have made even the stylists' heads reel.

Shown in that extravaganza are slim tubular skirts topped by long fitted jackets (Schiaparelli's cigarette silhouette), bobble pegtop skirts (Piguet's spindle profile) and full, swinging, double-tiered skirts (Molyneux's double swing design)—all for daytime wear. (All of them are short—the pegtops being slightly lengthened for greater grace.)

Evening clothes show such variations as Lanvin's stemlike cinemono tree profile, Balenciaga's full-skirted Infanta gowns inspired by Velasquez paintings of Spanish beauties, spiraled "mummy" and draped harem silhouettes.

The influence of the Nineteenth century and early Nineteen-hundreds also appears in 1880 bustles and back fulness, passementerie trimmings, long fitted jackets, fur hats and muffs.

Added to that are a number of military fashions reflecting the style world's reawakened interest in front page news, such as Hungarian hussar jackets, gold emblems, buttons and braid.

The independence of 1940 fashion is further emphasized in its colors. Sober, discreet hues (browns, blues and greens tinged with gray) are much used and new near-black shades (such as emerald and ruby black) have appeared. The fashion world wonders whether they constitute a new threat to the long continued domination of black though that is still important enough in the 1940 mode to remain the outstanding hue. A gay Robin Hood red, often paired with dark forest green is the brightest shade on the winter color card.

The fabrics of which the new daytime clothes are made give important play to smooth supple wools of the duvetyne type, jerseys and mat crepes. Silk and rayon jerseys, lace, velvet and such stiff fabrics as brocades, satins, moire and faille are ready to go places at night.

Suits are important in the new mode and include both dress and jacket and skirt and jacket combinations. Short, fitted, peplum jackets (generally worn with skirts having back fullness) and long fitted jackets (topping slim skirts) are both in the picture. Many are furred and worn with fur muffs, hats and umbrellas whose handles are covered with the same pelts.

Smartest coats (both cloth and fur) are fitted and flared. Many cloth ones are so liberally trimmed with pelts that they seem about half fur. Persian lamb, beaver, seal, leopard, fox, marten and mink are all used.

Dresses, generally high-necked and long-sleeved, often have close-fitting simple bodices smartened with a jeweled accent or a blazing neckline, big as a bib.

Braidings, jewels and accessories such as colored gloves are important in the mode. Hats are hats again, cover the head and often have attached snoods.

The little waistline appears again in this coat of wine purple wool designed by Helen Cookman. The chapeau matches it.

Coats of Another Color

Paris (AP).—Two-color coats are seen in Lanvin's collection. One has a dark blue back, a lighter blue front. Another wool model is purple-backed and fuchsia-fronted. Alix goes off on another tack, making one side of a coat plain wool, the opposite side plaid.

Most buyers insist on a well-blanched celery, which makes for greater tenderness and palatability in nearly all varieties, say food specialists. Two green varieties have been developed, however, that are fairly tender and delicious without blanching, although they are often also blanched. These varieties are a good source of vitamin A in their green state.

The coldest place on earth is believed to be a remote point in eastern Asia.

Chameleon Silhouette

Paris (AP).—Two-way evening skirts are featured by Bruyere. They are cut full and circular, but narrow ties of self material hobble them in back, and quite as easily untie to let them loose again. Thus the silhouette may be changed in something less than a jiffy.

Clink and Clank

Paris (AP).—A new evening purse is shaped like a tambourine, made of gold metal and black velvet, and equipped with shiny gold discs to do the clink and clanking. Another round purse is faced with a yellow sun-flower and backed with black velvet. Both are Balenciaga's.

Common Courtesy

—In Serving Wedding Cake

You should remove that centerpiece, dear bride, before cutting the first piece of your cake. You may leave the bridal roses around the base—to be removed by those who cut the bottom layer.

The bride should cut the first piece and share it with her husband. If the cake is served at a reception, the bride cuts it, after greeting her guests. If it is the dessert at a luncheon or supper, she waits until dessert time to cut it.

Members of the wedding party, then the guests, may cut their own cake or a waiter or some friend of the family may take over the knife.

The serving of two separate cakes, one for the bride, another for the groom, is almost obsolete. Today the bride's cake is the only one featured. Light or dark fruit cakes, pound cakes, silver or golden layer cakes, with white or very light pastel frostings, are suitable.

At large weddings only the married couple and members of the bridal party receive pieces of the bride's cake. Individual pieces of cake, in small boxes bearing silver initials—the first letter of the bride's surname and the first letter of the bridegroom's in the lower left corner—are left where each guest may take one "to dream on."

Since men's dark-colored hose often run when laundered, they are likely to stain other clothing. So wash the hose separately, hang them up quickly and don't let them come in contact with the rest of the laundry.

School lunch sandwiches taste twice as good when the filling is ample and goes clear to the edge of the bread. Lettuce or cress add crispness as well as vitamins to sandwiches.

Wash the summer clothes before storing them for the winter. This removes soil which might be harmful to the fabrics. The clothes do not need to be ironed until ready for wear.

Even movie stars go in for "basic" dresses. Andrea Leeds chooses a heavy black silk crepe with self-covered buttons down the front and a wide black suede belt with a square buckle.

She adds a white crepe turban and scarf, white kid gloves and a white kid bag. Notice the new sleeves with their gathered fullness on the shoulders and shirtwaist bands at the wrists.

Austin, Tex.—They go in for princesses on a wholesale basis at the University of Texas.

The right to the title is earned in the university's $500,000 physical education plant.

Two thousand girls compete each year for the honor of being named "princesses of posture." Nine are chosen.

Only five per cent of the girl students have good posture when they enroll in the University of Texas, says Miss Anna Hiss, director of physical education. Therefore the university emphasizes the development of correct posture in its physical education courses, and stages the contest as an added incentive to co-eds.

"The average Betty Co-ed is 17 years old, when she enters college; is 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 115 pounds, which is considerably underweight," says Miss Hiss.

"Ninety-five per cent of the girls have co-ed slump. This is a mild sort of S-shape, that tightens a girl's knees; curves her shoulders and throws her head forward. Her feet toe in or out and she steps in a slightly stiff manner.

The university starts right in to correct the situation.

"First we make a silhouette study of all the girls," says Miss Miss. "This discloses the particular sort of co-ed slump with which each is afflicted, whether it is round shoulders, knock knees or some other fault.

"Each freshman gets eight weeks of intensive training in fundamentals of body mechanics, rhythm and toning abdominal muscles, to correct her particular faults.

"At the end of eight weeks a second silhouette study is made. Usually the girl has gained a few pounds; usually her shoulders are squarer; her head is where it belongs atop her body and she probably has improved her posture."

SPANISH COMB effects also have been made over into modern ornaments. This one is of gold lace and is tied with a black velvet bow. Lots of lace and many bows are used this year. Gold kid bows are especially good.

WRAP-AROUNDS of non-tarnishable gold or silver thread, studded with all sorts of stones are being seen. The same materials are used in snoods and turbans.

Bride Today in St. Mary's Church

O'Reilly-Golden Wedding at St. Mary's

Miss Kathleen M. Golden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Golden, of 387 Broadway, was married this morning at a nuptial Mass at St. Mary's Church to Leonard T. O'Reilly, son of Mrs. William O'Reilly, of 58 Pine Grove avenue, and the late Mr. O'Reilly. The Rev. William H. Kennedy performed the ceremony.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. Miss Helen D. Noonan of this city was maid of honor. The attendants were the Misses Dorothy and Eileen Leopold of Brooklyn.

The bride wore ivory duchess satin with a heart shaped neckline and a long train. Her long veil of tulle fell from a coronet of old lace, and she carried orchids and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor and the attendants wore egg shell satin and brown velvet with small brown velvet hats with shoulder length tulle veils, and carried bronze daisy chrysanthemums.

Dr. Charles O'Reilly of this city was his brother's best man. Ushers were Edwin O'Reilly, William O'Reilly, Jr., and Martin W. Golden of this city, and Walter J. Maloney of Schenectady.

During the ceremony William Raible sang appropriate selections. Seated in the chancel were the Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and the Rev. Benjamin Roth.

Public Invited on Trip

The public has been invited by Eastern Star members of the city to make the trip with them to the World's Fair on October 11, for which event a special bus is being chartered. The bus will leave the Masonic Temple on Albany avenue at 6 a. m., and will return at the convenience of the passengers. Reservations for the public may be made at the Temple Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock.

Business Girls' to Resume

The first fall supper meeting of the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. will be held Wednesday evening, October 4, with a "Back to School Party" planned for the evening's entertainment. Supper will be served at 6:10. Members are requested to make reservations at the "Y" by Tuesday at 5:30.

Wynkoop Guild to Meet

The Henrietta Wynkoop Guild will hold the first meeting of the season Monday, October 2, at 3 o'clock, in the chapel of the First Reformed Church. A large attendance is requested as plans for the winter activities will be discussed. Mrs. Edward Sylvester and Mrs. Herbert Fister will be the hostesses.

Elks' Auxiliary to Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Elks Auxiliary will be held Monday evening, October 2, in the club house on Fair street. As final plans for the social party will be made it is urgently requested that all members be present.

Republican Women to Meet

A special meeting of the Women's Republican Club has been called for Tuesday, October 3, at the Governor Clinton Hotel to arrange for a card party October 19, for which Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman is chairman. All members are requested to attend.

N. Jansen Fowler Takes New Jersey Bride This Afternoon

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Gene Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Powell of 28 Callamore Terrace, West Orange, N. J., to N. Jansen Fowler, son of Judge Joseph M. Fowler and Mrs. Fowler of 26 Johnston avenue, this city, will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Ernest R. Palen, pastor of the Collegiate Church, New York city.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a dress of royal blue velvet, a blue velvet halo hat with shoulder length veil and a white orchid spray. Her only attendant will be Mrs. George Martyn Kingsland of Minneapolis, Minn., and Philadelphia, Pa., a former schoolmate of the bride at Randolph-Macon College in Virginia. She will wear beige crepe and an orchid corsage. Raymond Garraghan of this city will be best man.

A buffet supper for members of the immediate families and a few friends will follow at the home. The house will be decorated in yellow and white with fall flowers and palms. Frank Caig of Wilmington, Del., a cousin of the bride, will be soloist. Mrs. Caig will preside at the piano.

After a wedding trip by motor and boat to Virginia Beach, Mr. Fowler and his bride will make their home at 177 Pearl street. They will be at home after November 10.

The bride attended Rose Haven School for Girls, Centenary Collegiate Institute, and is a graduate of Stratford College, formerly Randolph-Macon, and New York University. She is a member of Omega Epsilon Nu sorority.

Mr. Fowler attended Colgate University and is a graduate of Cornell University, A. B. and Cornell Law, L. L. B. Fraternally he is a member of Phi Delta Thau. He is a lawyer in the firm of Fowler and Fowler.

Lake Katrine P.-T.A. To Entertain Public

The Lake Katrine Parent-Teacher Association will hold an open meeting at the Grange Hall on Tuesday, October 10, at 8 p. m.

The guest speaker of the evening will be Mrs. Frederick E. Stockwell, who is field secretary of Vassar Institute of Euthenics. The institute is planned for parents, teachers, social workers, ministers and administrators who are concerned with human relations and the contribution which knowledge and understanding of normal development can make in homes, schools, churches and communities.

Mrs. Stockwell's topic will be "Development and Guidance of the Young Child, Adolescent and Adult." Two films which include pictures taken during the 1939 session will be shown.

Since the welfare of the family is the major concern of almost everyone, it is anticipated that the talk will be of interest to a great number of people. Therefore, the Lake Katrine Parent-Teacher Association is extending a cordial invitation to the public to attend this meeting.

Hostess on Birthday

A birthday party was given by the Misses Geraldine and Sylvia Janacek on Thursday, September 28, in honor of their sister, Mildred, on her 19th birthday at her home on the Sawkill road. Guests were as follows: William Hargraves, Calvin Palen, Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Boice and son, Lemuel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boice, Mr. and Mrs. James Forster and son, James, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Haines, Fred Lucente and sons, Tony and Matthew, Miss Dolly Cordts, Wilbur Cordts, Miss Maude Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ennist, Miss Betty Carpino, Andrew, Stuckee, Miss Edna Davis, Miss Meadie Gerlach, Mr. and Mrs. George Boice and sons, Charles and George, and daughter, Inez, Jack Wood, Miss Beatrice Weinberger, Miss Barbara Nagy, Mr. and Mrs. Vendelin Janacek, Mildred Janacek. The guest of honor received many lovely gifts. During the evening the guests enjoyed dancing.

Do You Talk Well Or Just So-So?

The girl whose talk doesn't "take," whose listeners show they'd rather be somewhere else—what does she lack?

Very little usually. A dash more tact, a little more sparkle, and her talk would fascinate.

Often a girl bores because she doesn't fit her subject to the person she's talking to.

To an All-American halfback she says: "I heard the most wonderful concerto last night." Her rival would do better: "What do you think of State's football chances?"

And to get a friend-winning personal warmth into your talk, learn to give as well as take. If someone confides in you that "I was awfully silly when I had my first case of puppy love," don't be shy. Confide right back, "I was sillier, I'll wager."

Do you know mistakes to avoid when talking to men? One is—being "witty" at their expense.

Our 32-page booklet gives pointers for girls talking to men, for men talking to girls. Has helpful suggestions for repartee, ways to give your conversation interest, charm, magnetism.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of SECRETS OF GOOD CONVERSATION to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

To better living

THIS coming week, as you prepare to sit down to listen to the world series, to war news "direct," or to the major winter programs fast returning to the air, we'd like to have you know two things:

One—we have some astonishingly good buys in 1939 model Zeniths. Actually, you may buy one almost at cost.

Two — Our 1940 Zeniths, just now arriving, are super radios from the standpoint of value.

What do we mean by that vague and over-worked term, "value"?

We mean more than transcontinental automatic tuning, more than streamline dial. We mean—but suppose we first admit that obviously the pioneering stage in radio manufacture is over; that now it's a race to see which manufacturer can bring the various discoveries to the greatest possible state of perfection.

1940 model Zeniths have all the modern features of radio—perfected! That's what we mean by value. No features that are mere novelties; no features that are only "selling points"; no features that haven't proved essential.

Let's look at Zenith.

Down came aerials with their unsightly rigging when Zenith's wavemagnet was invented. It got results better. Now it is developed to the point where one may plug in and play, and results are perfect. No installation. No noise.

Next thing, Zenith's radiorgan opened up a new world of tone. That was sensational pioneering! But now it is fully explored, and a joy for you to exploit.

* * * *

Then remember the talk that ran like this:

"Television? Sure, television's coming. But it ain't here yet! And what am I supposed to do? Buy a new radio now, and then throw it out when television comes?"

The answer is "No, sir, and no ma'am!" When you own a 19[illegible] Zenith, you are ready for television.

All floor models have a pl[illegible] attachment for televi[illegible] whenever it comes to this [illegible]

* * * *

We now are ready to show a large selection of 1940 Zenith models, some of them beautiful pieces of furniture. Some of them "extra" radios for bed room or kitchen. Also combination radio-phonographs. Also portable sets with battery, to take with you on picnics, or to have beside you on the seat of your farm-wagon—if you have a farm wagon.

The big thing about the floor models is that they have "period" cabinets that make them potentially harmonious pieces of furniture. Many people first choose the cabinet that blends with their other furnishings. Then any size set they wish to have, is put in. That's the modern way of buying the right radio for your home.

The tremendous thing about the little models is that — oh happy idea—they have just as beautifully designed a back as front. In fact, front and back is the same in design. So now you may set a little Zenith on an end table, and walk around it without feeling you are ever on the wrong side. From any angle it is eminently presentable.

These table Zeniths, some in lively color plastics, are masterpieces. Even the littlest, have Zenith's full capacity for tone, from thrilling natural treble, to wonderfully vibrant basso. Come in and hear for yourself!

Spylios-Doulopulos

Ellenville, Sept. 30—Miss Rena Doulopulos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Doulopulos of Fitchburg, Mass., and John Spylios, son of Mrs. Bessie Spylios of Ellenville, were married Sunday, September 24, at 3 o'clock at the Holy Trinity Church, Fitchburg, Mass. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Mechahdes of Fitchburg.

The bride was gowned in white satin with a long wedding veil and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and gardenias. Her sister, Miss Dina Doulopolus, who acted as maid of honor, wore white and carried a bouquet of red and white roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Helen Dolopulos of Bennington, Vt., and Miss Constance Bicoulis of Fitchburg, Mass., who wore hyacinth and rose satin and carried bouquets of chrysanthemums and roses. Elaine Vandalsas of Bristol, Conn., was the flower girl. She was dressed in powder blue. Paul Gelep of Fitchburg, Mass., was the ring bearer. John Bocoulis of Fitchburg, Mass., was best man and Michael Spylios and James Boyicas, both of Fitchburg, were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for about 300 guests at the Grove Street Hall in Fitchburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Spylios have been enjoying a motor trip through the New England states and upon their return will reside at 26 Warren street, Ellenville.

Porter-Brawley

Ellenville, Sept. 30—Mary Porter of Ellenville and William Brawley of Kerhonkson were married at St. Mary's Church Saturday night at 9 o'clock by the Rev. Edward C. Nilan. Attendants were Mrs. Edward Shurter of Ellenville and John Riddell of Wawarsing.

Surprise Linen Shower

On Wednesday, September 20, a surprise linen shower was given Miss Katheryn Gazlay by her aunt, Mrs. Carl Gazlay, at the latter's home in Cottekill. When Miss Gazlay entered the room she was completely surprised by a number of friends who were assembled around a novelty sprinkling pot under which there were many beautiful gifts. During the evening numerous games were played and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED in financing the purchase of a car or refinancing your automobile or any other installment debts, phone 3470. Ask for Mr. Ellis.

WHAT'S DIFFERENT AT PERSONAL?
Our money, our loans, our requirements, our charges are all much the same as in other companies. What makes people prefer to do business with Personal? Is it the sympathetic way our manager grants the loans; the friendly manner of our cashier; the thoroughly "human" helpfulness of our whole office staff, when a borrower finds it difficult to make his regular payments? Come in and see.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Close to Home

Greencastle, Ind.—Police Chief Ed Maddox warned Depauw University students at the start of school against leaving money in gymnasium lockers where it might be stolen.

Yesterday, a sophomore reported to the chief $14 had been taken from her locker while she was in class.

The sophomore was Juel Maddox, the chief's daughter.

Nimrods' Friend

Berlin, Wis. — Father John Bonk, pastor of St. Michael's Catholic Church, believes his parishioners should have the same chance as non-churchgoers, to get to their blinds before daybreak when the duck season opens Sunday. He inserted notices in the local newspaper announcing a 4 a. m. Mass to accommodate hunters.

Good as New

Maynard, Ia.—Farmer Floyd Gilley harvested a good crop of beans from 38-year-old seed.

A neighbor who brought the seed from Germany to this country gave the sample to Gilley's mother when he was one week old. The beans are slightly larger than the navy variety.

Forgotten Man

Pittsburgh—A worried Pullman conductor who collects tickets on a New York-Chicago train jumped into a taxicab at outlying East Liberty station and asked to be sped to the downtown Pennsylvania depot.

"I got off at East Liberty and was standing on the platform," explained the embarrassed conductor. "The train started to pull out, and I stood there watching it. Imagine! It wasn't until it was gone that I realized it was my own train and I was supposed to be on it."

Ulster Garden Club 25th Anniversary

The Ulster Garden Club celebrated its 25th anniversary Tuesday at the home of the president, Miss Isabel Overbagh, in Saugerties, with a special program arranged to commemorate the event. It was the largest meeting of the year with present, past and honorary members in attendance.

A short musical program added to the enjoyment of the program with Frank Fuller, brother-in-law of Miss Overbagh, singing several selections. He was accompanied at the piano by Harry Elmendorf of this city.

A report of the founding of the club in 1914 at the home of Mrs. William Carter, written by Miss Mary Haldane, was read by Mrs. William Hasbrouck.

Among the past presidents who attended yesterday's meeting and who made brief responses to Miss Overbagh's introductions were Mrs. John T. Washburn, fourth president; Mrs. Everett Fowler, fifth president; Mrs. William A. Warren, sixth president, and Mrs. George Burgevin, seventh president. Other past presidents have been Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker, who is now touring Europe, and who was the first president; the late Mrs. William Carter, second president; Mrs. William Lawton, third president, a letter from whom was read at the meeting; and Mrs. Robert R. Rodie, who also sent a congratulatory letter.

An interesting review of the work of the Ulster Garden Club, written for the anniversary meeting by Mrs. Charles R. Hall, was read by Mrs. William A. Warren.

During the tea hour Mrs. Overbagh and Mrs. William F. Hasbrouck assisted by pouring.

Swimming Instructions

The top ranking swimming team of the United States, Eleanor Holm and Johnny Weismuller who as stars of the Aquacade are causing a sensation at the New York World's Fair, believe that swimming is the best all round exercise for health, fun and a perfect figure. They agree that there is only one right way to swim and that proper instruction such as our Home Service department offers in its booklet, "How To Be a Good Swimmer," is most important. Johnny says, "Your Home Service department is doing something really worthwhile in making this type of instruction available to everyone." Eleanor, above, is pictured in the sequin costume she wears in the finale at the Aquacade while Johnny hides his "Tarzan" physique with a bathrobe.

This booklet may be ordered in the same manner as all of our Home Service booklets. For directions see today's Home Service feature.

Schoonmaker-Miller

Miss La Verna Miller of 331 Broadway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Miller of Saugerties and Cornelius Schoonmaker of 507 Broadway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Schoonmaker of Saugerties, were married Sunday morning at 9 a. m. by the Rev. Clarance E. Brown at his home, 90 South Manor avenue. A reception followed at Saugerties. Following a wedding trip they will make their home in Saugerties.

Hospital Committee Meeting

A meeting for the members of the horse show committee of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the general chairman, Mrs. Parker K. Brinnier, 26 Pearl street.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Andola of Highland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rose Patricia, to Frank Stevens of Poughkeepsie. The wedding will take place in St. Augustine's Church, Highland, in October.

Stumpf-Brandt

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brandt of 105 Hunter street announce the marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Adolph W. Stumpf, on August 4, at Matamoras, Pa. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Brandt of Kingston.

Personal Notes

GAY CONTRAST IN SHIRTWAISTER

MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9095

A perennial favorite in the fashion world is the shirtwaister—it promises to bloom straight through the fall and winter. Make Marian Martin's attractive Pattern 9095 to wear both now and under your coat later on. Won't it be dashing in spun rayon, with a checkered bodice and solid-color skirt. Or get into reverse and have the bodice plain; the skirt checked. A simple dress to make, for it's cut in just a few main pattern pieces. The highlight of style is the circular, flaring skirt with its twin-peaked waistline that leaves your hips sleekly slim. And isn't the rever-collar attractive? Hurry—order this smart, useful pattern today!

Pattern 9095 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 2¼ yards 39 inch fabric and 1¾ yards contrast.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Midsummer always calls for an inventory of your wardrobe to see if it doesn't need replenishing. Something cool and crisp for days that are hot and nights that are sultry! MARIAN MARTIN will bring you dozens of easily-made designs for sport, play and formal midsummer wear in our NEW PATTERN BOOK. There are pages and pages of fashions for femininity of all ages. The book is fifteen cents but when ordered with a pattern the price for both is twenty-five cents.

You will want to consult this pattern book frequently for your remaining summer costumes.

Send your order to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th street, New York, N. Y.

15 Days in Couny Jail

Mayer Harris, who gave his address as 176 Eldridge street, New York city, was arrested on a charge of vagrancy when he applied for a night's lodging at the county jail, when the jail attaches in searching him before admitting him to the jail, found a toy pistol styled like an automatic hidden in his trouser leg. According to the sheriff's office Harris had the toy gun wrapped in a towel and concealed in one of his trouser legs. This morning Judge Matthew V. Cahill sentenced Harris to 15 days in the county jail.

Tommy Zano Has Broken Hand

Tommy Zano, local welterweight, is home from New York for a five-week rest to recuperate from a broken right hand, which he suffered more than a month ago.

"I hope my hand gets better quickly," said Zano, "because I want to get back to business." He has a match pending for September 11 at Newport News, for a police benefit show.

The popular local 145 pounder said he cracked a bone in his wrist more than a month ago, and fought several times with the injury, including his three bouts in Kingston with Nat Kadin, Stanley Miller and Irish Johnny Smith.

"I'd have laid off before only for the Kingston matches," Tommy said, "but I wanted to box at the auditorium once again."

Local Law No. 2 of 1939
(Known as Local Law No. 24 of the City of Kingston)
A LOCAL LAW

To amend local law number 3 of the Year 1937, known as Local Law No. 19 of the City of Kingston, in relation to continuing the tax on gross incomes or gross operating incomes of corporations and persons furnishing utility services in the City of Kingston, for the purpose of granting relief from the hardships and suffering caused by unemployment, as authorized by section twenty-b of the General City Law of the state of New York and in relation to judicial review.

BE IT ENACTED by the Common Council of the city of Kingston as follows:

SECTION 1. Subdivision one and four of Local Law number 3 of the year 1937, known as Local Law No. 19 of the City of Kingston, as amended by Local Law number 2 of the year 1938, known as Local Law No. 22 of the City of Kingston, are hereby amended to read as follows:

1. Pursuant to the authority granted by Section twenty-b of the General City Law of the state of New York, a tax equal to one per centum of its gross income for the period from July first, nineteen hundred thirty-seven, to June thirtieth, nineteen hundred forty, is hereby imposed upon every utility doing business in the city of Kingston which is subject to the supervision of the state department of public service, except motor carriers or brokers subject to such supervision under article three-b of the public service law and a tax equal to one per centum of its gross operating income is hereby imposed for the same period upon every other utility doing business in the city of Kingston, which taxes shall have application only within the territorial limits of the city of Kingston, and shall be in addition to any and all other taxes and fees imposed by any other provision of law for the same period. Such taxes shall not be imposed on any transaction originating or consummated outside of the territorial limits of the city of Kingston, notwithstanding that some act be necessarily performed with respect to such transaction within such limits.

4. Every utility subject to tax hereunder shall file, on or before September twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred thirty-nine, December twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred thirty-nine, March twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred forty and June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred forty, a return for the three calendar months preceding each such return date including any period for which the tax imposed hereby or by any amendment hereof is effective and on or before July twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred forty a return for the preceding calendar month, each of which returns shall state the gross income or gross operating income for the period covered by each such return. Returns shall be filed with the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston on a form to be furnished by him for such purpose and shall contain such other data, information or matter as the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston may require to be included therein. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this subdivision, any utility whose average gross income or average gross operating income, as the case may be, for the aforesaid three months' periods is less than fifteen hundred dollars, may file its returns for such periods on June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred thirty-nine, and June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred forty, respectively. The City Treasurer of the City of Kingston may require at any time a further or supplemental return, which shall contain any data that may be specified by the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston. Every return shall have annexed thereto an affidavit of the head of the utility making the same, or of the owner or of a co-partner thereof, or of a principal officer of the corporation conducting business be conducted, to the effect that the City of Kingston, are hereby amended to read as follows:

6. In case any return filed pursuant to this section shall be insufficient or unsatisfactory to the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston, and if a corrected or sufficient return is not filed within twenty days after the same is required by notice from the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston, or if no return is made for any period, the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston shall determine the amount of tax due from such information as he is able to obtain, and, if necessary, may estimate the tax on the basis of external indices or otherwise. The City Treasurer of the City of Kingston shall give notice of such determination to the person liable for such tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix such tax, unless the person against whom it is assessed shall, within thirty days after the giving of notice of such determination, apply to the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston for a hearing, or unless the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston, of his own motion, shall reduce the same. After such hearing, the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston shall give notice of his decision to the person liable for the tax. The decision of the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston may be reviewed by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the Civil Practice Act of the state of New York, if application therefor is made within thirty days after the giving of notice of such decision. An order to review such decision shall not be granted unless the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with interest and penalties thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston and an undertaking filed with him, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that, if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the applicant will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding, or at the option of the applicant, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the tax, interest, penalties, costs and charges aforesaid, in which event the applicant shall not be required to pay such tax, interest and penalties as a condition precedent to the granting of such order.

9. If, within one year from the payment of any tax or penalty, the payer thereof shall make application for a refund thereof and the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston or the court shall determine that such tax or penalty or any portion thereof was erroneously or illegally collected, the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston shall refund the amount so determined. For like cause and within the same period, a refund may be so made on the initiative of the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston. However, no refund shall be made of a tax or penalty paid pursuant to a determination of the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston as hereinbefore provided unless the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston, after a hearing as hereinbefore provided, or of his own motion, shall have reduced the tax or penalty or it shall have been established in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the Civil Practice Act of the state of New York that such determination was erroneous or illegal. All refunds shall be made out of moneys collected under this section. An application for a refund, made as hereinbefore provided, shall be deemed an application for the revision of any tax or penalty complained of and the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston may receive additional evidence with respect thereto. After making this determination, the City Treasurer of the City of Kingston shall give notice thereof to the person interested, and he shall be entitled to an order to review such determination under said article seventy-eight, subject to the provisions hereinbefore contained relating to the granting of such an order.

SECTION 3. This [illegible] shall take effect July [illegible] thirty-nine

Block Park Bouts Draw Big Crowd

Fifteen hundred people thronged the grandstands at Block Park last night to witness the most spectacular boxing bouts in the park's history. Featured on this card were some of the best known amateur boxers of the city, including Rip Freer, the Bomb Shell of Terpening's, who won by a technical knockout in the second round over a well known amateur boxer of St. Remy, Buddy Smith, the boy who defeated Lou Sapp at Barmann's last week. Other fighters on this card were: Joe Kivlan who defeated Leo Hart of Ponckhockie; Barney Emerson of St. Remy, who won a close decision over Butch Albright. Billy Davis won by a technical knockout over Walt Port of Kingston; Lou Perry defeated Al Thomas of Block Park; Paul Mills won the decision over Charley McCarthy, the Mohawk Indian of Kingston; Bobby Heeney won by a technical knockout over Joe Whittaker of Wilbur; Willy Wilkin defeated Flyweight Bobby Boss of Kingston; Frank Sass won over Tony Fabbee of Ponckhockie; Ray Wolf, alderman of Block Park, took an easy decision over George Dressler of Brooklyn; Art Hansen won by a technical knockout over Pete Hannable of Jansen avenue.

Because of a broken wrist Ray Krom, the Union Center Killer, could not fight his scheduled bout with Pat Bower.

These fights are under the direction of Frank Albright and Mike Elgo in collaboration with the playground directors. Fights will be held at Diamond Lake Friday, August 11. The judges for the fights were Winky Myers, Hank Tiano and Bill Bailey. The referee was Frank Albright, the announcer, Mike Elgo.

Kingston Olympics Tomorrow at 1:30

Preparations have been concluded for the City Olympics, playground track championships, which will take place at the new Municipal Stadium tomorrow afternoon at 1:30.

More than 300 entries have been received for the many events on the schedule, and competition between the various parks will be unusually close.

There will be no admission charge for this event, and hundreds of parents and friends of the children are expected to be present to witness the races.

Ulster County Trapshooters Compete at Woodstock Sunday

KELLY'S CORNER • By JOE KELLY

Benny Tunes Up With Joe Louis —K. H. S. Opens Season Today

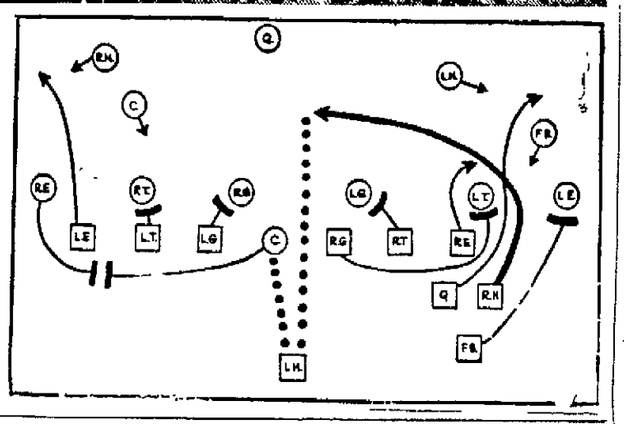
That Yellow Jacket workout Sunday morning will be at Barmann't lot...Starting time is 9:30 promptly...Interest in the Wasps' game with Newburgh at the new stadium indicates a capacity attendance...At least that's the report from Al Weierich of Kingston Council, K. of C., which is promoting the game...Kingston High students playing football have a special room at the stadium for their equipment...And a physician, Dr. John Olivet, an alumnus, will attend every home game... The Yanks were pulling for the Reds because they figure better crowds in the Rhineland than in St. Louis...The experts say Frankie Frisch is signed, sealed and delivered to Pittsburgh...But rumors persist that Jimmy Wilson of the Reds and Rabbit Maranville are still in the running.

Chicago photographers are snapping Jack Benny sparring with Joe Louis...He's in training for his winter radio bouts with Fred Allen....Writes Eddie Brietz of the A. P.—"When Paul Derringer whiffed Johnny Mize for the last out in the last game of the Reds-Cards series, Johnny turned to Ernes Lombardie and said: 'Nice work, boys—now go and do the same thing to the Yanks.'"... South Carolinians who have been following Tulane closely opined that this school would beat Clemson three touchdowns today... Kingston High School was slated to open its season at the new stadium uptown this afternoon against Amsterdam, an tristate club that sought revenge for last season's setback.

Fordham's Center Alley Pass

By JIM CROWLEY, Fordham Coach

Equipped with a crack passer in Len (Rapid Ram) Eshmont, Fordham often uses this quick toss over the line. It is a good basic pass play, which gives the pitcher protection and also carries the threat of a run. The left halfback takes the snap from center, retreats a few steps as the right halfback races off tackle and cuts in, then pegs one down the center alley. Both the quarterback and the left end have gone down as decoys and are targets in the event the right halfback is covered. The Fordham center pulls out to block the defensive right end who is allowed to come through. The fullback takes the defensive left end.



Two Real Master Managers Pilot Pennant-Bound Clubs

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Among other things the boys will be playing for the meandering manager's championship of the big leagues in their World Series get-together next week.

For, in Joe McCarthy and Will McKechnie you have a pair of bosses who really get around. Joe is the only manager in history to pilot pennant winners in both leagues. Will is the only one to lead clubs in three different cities to the big dough.

And they probably are the two most famous examples of baseball's habit of rewarding pennant-winning managers by firing them. McCarthy booted the Cubs home in '29 and was politely kicked out the following year. The Deacon won with Pittsburgh in '25 and got the pink slip from the Pirates in '27. He repeated with St. Louis in 1928, and was out of a job again the next year.

Yankees Need "Mac"

They're both sitting pretty now, however. The Yankees would as soon sell Joe DiMaggio as move McCarthy out of their dugout.

The Reds, with their first pennant in 20 years, are thinking of electing mild Mr. McKechie to the mayor's office, anyway.

They're similar in a lot of ways. They're both masters of psychology as applied to individual ball players. They both know how to get the most out of their men with a little pat on the back here, or a cajoling word there.

They're the complete opposite of such fireball bosses as Casey Stengel, Burleigh Grimes and Leo the Lip Durocher. Rarely does either come charging out on an umpire, although they can dish it out with the best.

Stellar Catchers

There are a couple of other guys on these particular World Series clubs who are usually overlooked, but who are valuable and necessary to a winner. These are the fellows who squat out there behind home plate day after day with a big mitt and the Yanks and Reds are blessed with the best.

In Bill Dickey, the Yankees have one who tops any catcher in baseball. He can pull the whole club together when it starts to slow down into low gear. He's a good mechanical receiver and a large dose of poison ivy to enemy pitchers, with a batting average over the .300 mark and more than 100 runs knocked in to his credit.

In the Rhineland, Ernie Lombardi has had anything but a picnic this season handling a bunch of young elbowers with no more control than a runaway horse. Batting champion of the league last year, he fell to about .290 this season, but drove in some 85 runs.

Matches Scheduled At 10:30 in Morning To Start Promptly

All Sportsmen Invited to Compete in 'Little Grand American' for Attractive Prizes

Friendly hostilities among Ulster county trapshooters will be resumed tomorrow when the units of The Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county put on their "Little Grand American" at Woodstock under the auspices of the Woodstock Fish and Game Association, on its grounds, located on the road leading to the Overlook Mountain. Starting time for the matches is 10:30 a. m.

This annual field day provides for three events, a scratch team trophy which is awarded to the team breaking the highest number of targets, a handicap trophy to the team whose scratch plus the total handicap targets shows the highest handicap score and the individual county championship. Records show that these matches have been closely contested each year and indications are that there will be no exception this year.

The Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association shooters, defenders of the scratch trophy, which they have held since it was offered in 1934, will be hard pressed this year defending their title as two of their best shooters will not be available for this match, and at least two of the other teams entered have added shooters which will give them additional strength. This match has always been hotly contested as is shown by the scores of past years.

In 1934 the Ulster gunners won over Saugerties by a score of 223 to 221; 1935 they won by 233 to their closest rival's 226, this being the highest score made at any match. In 1936 and 1937 the clay-busters representing this club won with scores of 217 and 205 respectively and repeated in 1938 with a score of 211.

Close Scores

Under the "Showgren System of Handicapping" some very close scores have resulted in the handicap race. In 1934 the team representing the Izaak Walton League of Ellenville won over Saugerties by a score of 235 to 233. In 1935 the Rondout Valley Rod and Gun Club won by one half point, the score being 237 to Saugerties Fish and Game Association's 236½. Other scores that were Ulster County Fish and Game Association 236 and New Paltz and Gun Club 235. The Rondout Valley Rod and Gun Club in 1936 and again in 19[illegible] retired the Handicap T[illegible] ing won the third leg [illegible] ent possession of the new entry "The Lloyd Gun Club" won in 1[illegible] was given Baker to defend the new troph[illegible] put up by the Fede[illegible] year following the re[illegible] the other trophy.

The individual champ[illegible] should be closer this year ever before. Jack Lowth[illegible] Saugerties and Frank Van Gons[illegible] of New Paltz each have won two legs on this trophy and are out to take permanent possession of it. Henry York of Saugerties, winner in 1938 and defender, will endeavor to retain his laurels and thereby becoming the third shooter win two legs on this trophy.

Roswell Coles, chairman of the trapshooting committee, was the first winner of this trophy in 19[illegible] with a score of 48; 1932, George Hudson of Highland with 48, was declared winner in a shootoff with Frank Chaffee, and in 1933 Jack Lowther of Saugerties was winner with 49. In 1934, the first year the matches were run off under the auspices of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county, Bob Martin of Kingston was winner with 49 with four other gunners tied with scores of 48. 1935 saw Jack Lowther of Saugerties again the winner, he being the first person to win the title twice, breaking the only straight 50 ever made in this match; 1938 showed a new title holder, Frank Van Gonsic of New Paltz, with a score of 48, who repeated in 1937 with a score of 47, thereby becoming the only shooter to win two consecutive years. Henry York of Saugerties and Abe Smith of Kerhonkson were tied with 47 each in 1938. In the shootoff for first place the string of 25 targets showed them again tied and it was necessary for them to shoot a second string before York was declared a winner with a score of 48.

All Have Chance

The Showgren system is used for making up handicap scores and under it all shooters are given an equal chance. Not infrequently shooters classified in the lower brackets will have a score equal to that of shooters in the higher brackets under this system.

In addition to the trophies awarded to the winners of the matches a number of valuable merchandise prizes will be awarded according to the handicap score of each shooter in the individual contest. These articles consist of rifles, hunting coat, pants, tackle box, casting rod, fly rod, lines, hunting boots and many other articles of similar value.

Those Eligible

All clubs affiliated with the federation and the members of these clubs if residents of Ulster county are eligible to shoot in these matches. Visitors are always welcome and will be permitted use of the traps and grounds following the matches.

A hot lunch will be served by the members of the Woodstock Club in the club house during the day.

Krum Picking Team for Elks

To William A. Krum has been delegated the duty of gathering together a real bowling team to represent Kingston Lodge, No. 550, B. P. O. E., this winter. This action was taken at a meeting last evening at the Elks Home on Fair street. Exalted Ruler William Rothery appointed Officer Krum chairman of the committee which will form the team.

In years past Kingston Lodge, No. 550, B. P. O. E., had a bowling team which was the sensation of the Hudson Valley. Chairman Krum was busy today scouting for some of the old timers to augment the team of "youngsters" to represent the lodge and bring back some of the old time bowling honors.

Asked if he would attempt to enter his team in a league, Officer Krum replied that he had hopes of having a team which could knock off top position in any league but admitted that even though he did not succeed in getting his team in any league he would bowl independently the other Elks lodges in the Hudson valley and bring honors to Kingston Lodge.

Members of the team will be announced when the list is completed. Any members of the Elks Lodge desiring to place on the team may report to Bill Krum.

Brodhead's Star Football Team

Whenever the football season rolls around for Kingston High School, an alumnus of old Kingston or Ulster Academy, generally the latter, pops up with "the most formidable eleven ever to represent the Colonial city in scholastic circles."

As Kingston made ready to face Amsterdam High School today at the municipal stadium, Charles C. Brodhead of old U. A., now an insurance representative, came through with this little "All America" that made grid history back in the years of 1910 and 1911.

Quarterback—Clarence "Chink" Rowland.

Half backs—Andy Murphy and LeRoy Cashin.

Fullback—Homer "T" Terwilliger.

Ends — Victor Johnson and Chris Flanagan.

Center—Frank Finley.

Guards — Paul Howland and Wayne Gile.

Tackles—George Potter and Cope Gates.

Brodhead reminisced: "Ulster beat Poughkeepsie, its strongest rival, 6-5 in those days when a touchdown counted for five and a conversion one, and tied the N. Y. U. team which spent the summer at a camp in Eddyville.

DiMaggio and Mize Are Leaders

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Awarding the major league hitting championships to Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees and Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cardinals now is only a formality.

The two sluggers who have led the American and National Leagues, respectively, for many weeks coasted into the final weekend of the baseball campaign with insurmountable margins.

Di Maggio's .382 was 24 points better than the mark of Jimmie Foxx of the Boston Red Sox, who was removed from competition a month early by an appendectomy.

Mize's mark of .352 was 14 points above the .338 figure of his teammate, Joe Medwick, who beat him out for the 1937 batting championship by a narrow margin.

Cronin Signs For 5 More Years

Boston, Sept. 30 (AP)—After parrying queries about Joe Cronin's future for more than a year with the reply that "he has nothing to worry about," Tom Yawkey, millionaire owner of the Boston Red sox, more than made good his promise last night by signing his player-manager to another five-year contract.

Yawkey also said he had signed up four other outstanding players, Jimmy Foxx, Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr and Jim Tabor for the 1940 season.

Third Series Game This Afternoon

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Bill Southworth, Rochester manager, called on Herschel Lyons today to pitch the Red Wings out of a slump that has cost them the first two games of the Little World Series with the Louisville Colonels.

Woody Rich was slated to pitch for Louisville of the American Association when the teams met (2:30 p. m., E.S.T.) for the third game of the four out of seven series. The game was rained out last night.

Capacity Crowd Indicated For Casey Grid Game Oct. 6, Jackets Drill Tomorrow

Interest in the forthcoming football game between the Yellow Jackets and Newburgh Recreations presages a capacity crowd at the new municipal stadium when the skirmish goes on Friday night, October 6, under the auspices of Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus.

Al Weierich, one of the committeemen arranging plans for the game today said the stadium would be the mecca for followers of the pigskin sport from all sections hereabouts.

Weierich who has been identified with the sports program of the Caseys for some time said, "Many football enthusiasts from Saugerties, Catskill and Poughkeepsie have signified intentions of attending the game, and there should be an overflowing attendance from Newburgh, the home of the Recs.

"Around Kingston council, interest in the game has hit fever heat and the local Knights will be out enmasse to help fill the stands at the stadium."

For those who do not understand the game thoroughly, a commentator will be on hand to give a running account of the plays, the lineups and talk in general on the gridiron sport so that everything concerning the first night game in Kingston will be complete.

As far as the Yellow Jackets are concerned, they are eager for the contest with Newburgh. The down-river gridders are natural rivals of the Wasps and a close skirmish should be the result of that October 6 meeting.

"We must be in tip-top shape," said Eddie Minasian, flashy little quarterback of the Kingston club, "and every player is urged to be out for practice Sunday morning promptly at 9:30 on Barmann's lot."

Minasian said the gridders looked exceptionally good in workouts Thursday and Friday evenings in preparation for the Casey game. The Jackets have no date for tomorrow, Gus Steigerwald having been unable to arrange a game any place along the Hudson valley.

"I guess the clubs along the big stream are afraid to tackle the Kingston boys so early in the season, and I don't blame them because our players are in mid-season form."

Eddie Burgevin, one of Kingston's better known football figures, discussing the game for next Friday said, "In my opinion, this battle shoul dbe one of the best seen here in a long time. These clubs are natural enemies, the rivalry having started back in 1929 when Eddie Minasian quarterbacked for Kingston High School against Chumas, present ace of the Recreation eleven."

Burgevin continued, "Besides Minasian and Chumas there are a lot of other players on these teams who have been grid enemies over the 10-year period and there should be plenty of real slam bang play when they open up on one another next Friday."

Down in the Hilly City, the slogan seems to be "watch Jimmy Cullum." The Newburghers know how he can pass, and break through the line, too, ever since his days with the Maroon and White tossers.

Pointing out that women are less likely than men to die from tuberculosis, experts explain that among newly born white male babies the chances of an eventual death from this cause are 35 in 1,000, while for the females they are only 25 in 1,000.

Football Blows Lid Off Today With 4-Star Bill

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—College football blows the roof right off the season today with a four-star special program as several of the nation's outstanding gridiron outfits step right into fast company with big game opposition.

Pittsburgh's Panthers, under a new administration, battle Jimmy Phelan's Washington Huskies on the Pacific coast; Notre Dame's Irish and Purdue's well-regarded Boilermakers in the midwest; Colgate and New York University in the east; and a pair of sparklers in the cow country, with Rice taking on Vanderbilt and Oklahoma tangling with Southern Methodist.

Some of the big leaguers got away to a red-hot start against [illegible]-1 competition yesterday. Among them were the Texas Christian longhorns, who weren't so hot without Davey O'Brien and Co., and dropped a 6-2 decision to U. C. L. A.; Tennessee, which took it easy in trouncing North Carolina State, 13-0; Catholic U., which surprised South Carolina, 1:0, and Georgetown and Temple, which tied up in a pitchers' duel before the Hoyas came out on top, 3-2. In the "breather" opposition department, Syracuse socked Clarkson, 12-0. Other scores included Duquesne's 31-0 waltz over Illinois Wesleyan and a 12-6 decision by Drake over Kansas U.

In the east today the Army and Navy swing into battle, meeting Furman and William and Mary, respectively; Dartmouth's Green outfit takes on an easy one in St. Lawrence, and Carnegie's Skibos do the same against Wittenberg.

Indiana and Nebraska, meeting in an inter-conference clash, have a good share of the midwest spotlight. Minnesota figures to blow right through Arizona; Wisconsin picks on nothing easy in Marquette, and Paul Christman leads Missouri against Colorado.

In the south, Tulane tangles with Clemson; Louisiana State says howdy to Mississippi; North Carolina meets Wake Forest; Alabama opens easily with Howard; Arkansas faces Mississippi State; Georgia goes against the Citadel and Kentucky and Duke greet V. M. I. and Davidson, respectively.

Southern California vs. Oregon is a Pacific coast feature. Stanford against Oregon State is another. Santa Clara faces Utah.

Texas takes on Florida, and the Texas Aggies meet Centenary on other fronts.

Special Room and Physician For Kingston High Gridders

Kingston high school has its own room in the Municipal Stadium where football equipment may be hung up to dry after a game and after practice games. Trustee Rowland, chairman of the athletic committee, of the board announced last evening that the equipment room in the stadium was ready for use and all equipment could be placed in the room and locked up.

To Harry Halverson, who drew plans and aided the city employes and the Board of Public Works in the work, he paid tribute. He told the board Mr. Halverson had done this work without charge.

In the future Kingston football players will also have a physician in attendance at all home games. Arrangements have been made with Dr. John A. Olivet to attend the four home games and care for any needed treatment to players.

Mr. Rowland said that the new idea being carried out in sport instruction was showing its worth in football. The board at its last session authorized small payments for members of the teaching staff who act as instructors in off-school grounds practices and after school hours. This duty does not relieve the teacher from usual school duties. It has provided five coaches for the 55 members of the football squad and this allows every 11 boys to have an instructor. This means that all of the lads are being properly coached, said Mr. Rowland, and the results are showing up splendidly.

Maroon Harriers Start October 6

On Friday, October 6, Coach Loryne Connick's Kingston High School cross country squad will open its season at Pawling. Six lettermen will be on hand for the local Maroon and White.

This year Joe Toney, a surprising runner in 1938, will be the pilot of the squad. Pat Bowers, Babe Markle, Joey Beirach, Harry Mickle, Clarence Post, Mel Samuels, Bill Tucker, Rice, Tom Cully, Waltman and Ryan will also be ready to see action for the Connickmen.

Two of last year's standout gallopers, Jess Shultis and Kip Parslow will be missing this season. Jess lowered his own record on a local course last year from 12:52 to 12:50. In losing Shultis the local runners will be minus one of the greatest stars of Kingston High School history.

Following is the schedule:
October 3—At Pawling.
October 20—At Beacon.
November 11—Armistice Day meet at municipal stadium.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

(By The Associated Press)

Amid all the jubilation of the Cincinnati Reds, somebody forgot to shut off the ignition.

With their National League pennant clinched Thursday, the Reds played their scrub team against the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday and won, 2-1.

Lefty Lee Grissom scattered seven hits and knocked home one of the Cincinnati runs with a triple. It was the Reds' sixth straight victory in less than a week against the Buccaneers, but nobody cared.

The only regular Red to start was Frank (Buck) McCormick, ambitious to acquire an endurance record. He was relieved in the third, the first time he has missed a single inning at first base in two years.

Tht St. Louis Cardinals had a day of idleness in which to lick their wounds. Rain forced postponement of their contest at Chicago and also various other major league engagements.

In the only other National League firing, the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Bees divided a doubleheader, insuring the Dodgers of a berth in the first division and freezing out the New York Giants.

Tom Early won the first game for Boston 2-1, on four-hit pitching. He had a no-hitter until the seventh. Seven-hit hurling by Hugh Casey in the nightcap won, 7-1, for the Dodgers, who were helped by four Boston errors.

Cleveland swept a doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers, 4-3 and 3-0, in the sole American League competition and took a firmer grip on third place.

Mel Harder, who hit a home run in the fourth, got credit for the first victory, although Bob Feller worked the last two innings. Al Milnar pitched the shutout second session, abbreviated to five innings because of darkness.

Separation Action Against Physician

An action for a separation has been brought by Mrs. Margaret Henkes Meekins of Poughkeepsie and Highland, against her husband, Dr. Carl Foster Meekins, health officer of Highland, and an application for alimony and counsel fees pending the trial of the case was made Thursday in supreme court in Poughkeepsie before Justice Lee Parsons Davis, who reserved decision on the application.

Mrs. Meekins alleges that her husband has declared his love for a girl who exerted a great influence over him. She accuses her husband of having a violent temper and of having administered a black eye and other bodily injuries upon her in July.

Dr. Meekins has denied all of the allegations and is opposing the law suit.

The couple was married on December 30, 1927, and there are two children, John Allen, 10, and Robert Foster, 3½ years old.

Custody of the two children is a focal point in the lawsuit, a tentative agreement having been reached to place the older boy in the Raymond Riordon School at Highland, while the younger boy remains with the mother.

Justice Davis stated he would reserve decision on the application pending examination of the voluminous papers filed by William A. Mulvey, attorney for Mrs. Meekins, and the law firm of A. D. and A. W. Lent of Highland, who represent the husband.

Rogers Smuggles Letter From Jail, Gets More Time

Frank Rogers, 43, of Ellenville, who had completed a 10-days' sentence in the county jail this morning, was arrested as he was about to be discharged, and later in the morning was sentenced to jail for a week when arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court on a charge of attempting to smuggle a letter written by another prisoner out of the jail.

Rogers was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Wesley O'Brien who found the letter on Rogers' person. The letter, which was attached to the information, was written by Philip Canning, who is serving a jail sentence, and was addressed to Canning's aunt.

Rogers explained to the court that he knew it was a violation of prison rules to smuggle a letter out of jail, but he did not know it was a crime. He said he had first read the letter before he had accepted it from Channing.

The letter in brief urged the aunt to retain a lawyer and endeavor to have his jail sentence of 60 days reduced.

Sheriff Molyneaux said there was nothing in the letter that would have prohibited it being mailed out in the regular channel.

All letters for mailing have to be turned over to the sheriff unsealed before they are mailed.

McVey Is Named Ministerial Head

The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was elected president at the annual meeting of the Kingston Ministerial Association held at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday. The other officers elected were: Vice president, the Rev. William R. Peckham of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church; recording secretary and treasurer, Robert L. Sisson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; corresponding secretary, the Rev. D. Linton Doherty of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

The association voted to have a social evening later in the fall for the ministers and their wives, and the Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle, the Rev. Maurice Venno and the Rev. D. Linton Doherty were named as a committee to make arrangements and fix the date.

At the October meeting the Rev. Maurice Venno will report on the Episcopal conference on the church and the world situation, in which the members of the association will take part in a round table discussion.

The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool and the Rev. Arthur G. Carroll were appointed members of the program committee.

The Rev. Arthur S. Cole, the Rev. Russell Damstra, and the Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle were named as a committee to study the possibility of holding an interdenominational conference of all of the local churches some time in the fall.

Balloon Tests Aid for Pilots

New Technique Cuts Down Errors in Studying the Tricky Currents.

TROY, N. Y.—Meteorologists who watch vari-colored balloons float into the sky are responsible for the most accurate method devised for guiding airplane pilots through hazardous winds, according to Elbert F. Corwin, Rensselaer Polytechnic institute meteorologist.

The new technique, with its narrowed margin of error, is expected to prevent pilots from encountering violent upwinds and treacherous downdrafts that sometimes suck planes into mountainsides. It guides them by enabling the pilots to know at which levels they may fly to avoid the currents.

Corwin said the new method utilizes a geometrical principle, determining distance through angles. Weather observers at present base calculations on an assumption that balloons always rise about 600 feet a minute.

Work With Weather Bureau.

Corwin and two student assistants, at the request of the United States weather bureau, for months sent colored balloons into the air and observed their flight to heights of five miles and distances of from 10 to 17 miles.

It was found that "up and down" winds accelerated, slowed or even reversed, the balloons' normal rate to climb. Thus, the Rensselaer findings showed, the pilot of an airplane might encounter violent winds by trying to avoid them, because winds, reported at 10,000 feet, might really be at 8,000 or 12,000 feet.

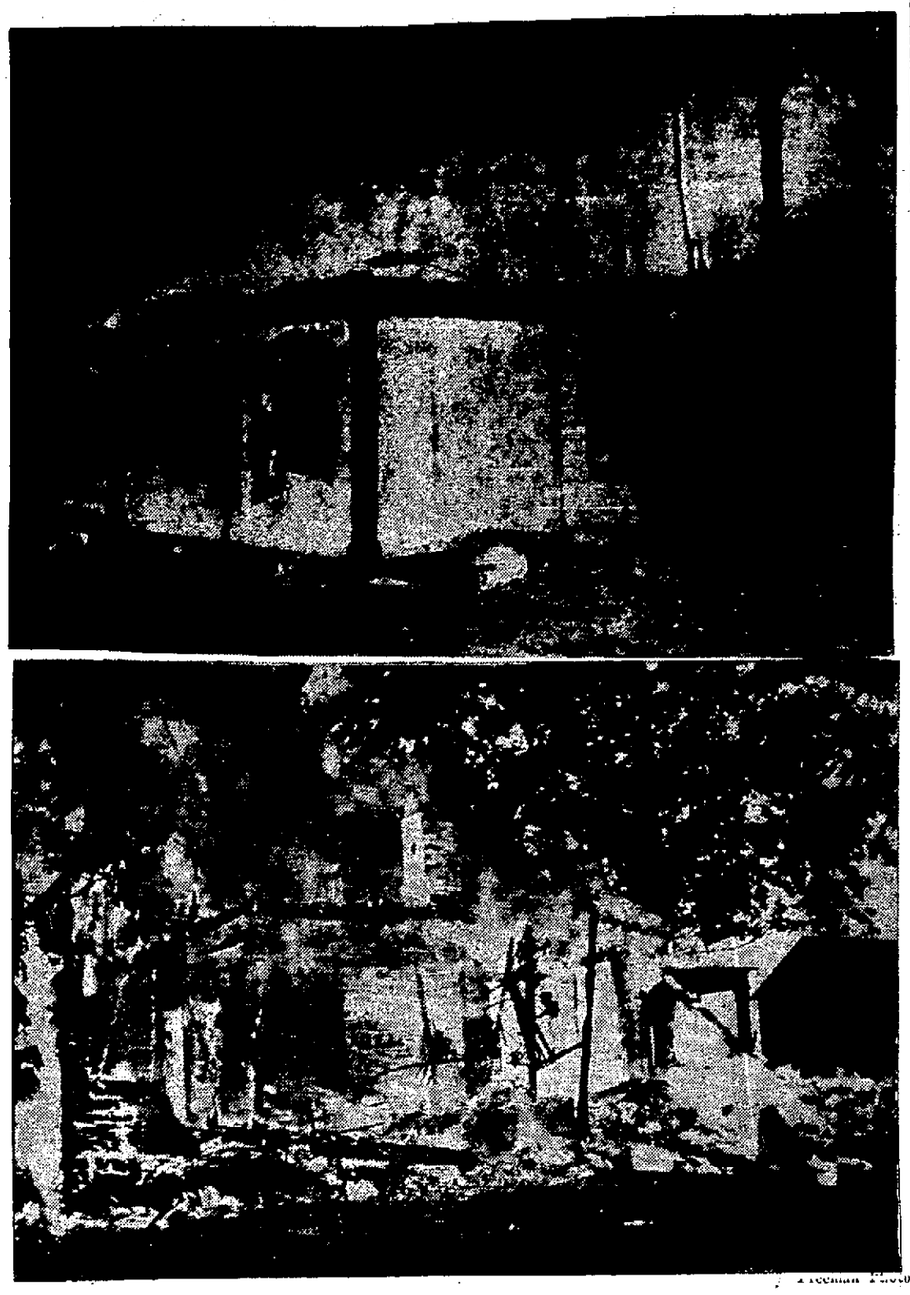
The R. P. I. meteorologist's method utilizes a small balloon tied by a 100-foot line to the main, "sounding" balloon. A special theodolite, similar to those used by weather observers and surveyors to study angles, would then measure the angle between it and the two balloons. Calculations then determine to within relatively few feet their height.

Error as High as 33 Per Cent.

"We checked the positions of the balloons each minute and later compared these with what they would have been assumed to be under the assumption of constant rate of ascent," the professor said. "On still days we found the assumed rate correct enough, but on other days with up and down winds the actual rate was much faster or slower than the assumed, frequently as much as 25 per cent. In one instance the error was 33 per cent.

"The principal value of this new method is that we may learn more about the frequency and violence of high winds in different sections of the country, particularly in mountainous regions, and report accurately to those who fly what to avoid or take advantage of on any particular day."

Afternoon Fire Levels Farm Home



A Colonial house on the farm of Wlliam A. Warren, of Hurley, was destroyed by a fire which broke out about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The building, one of the older landmarks along the Lomontville road, burned to the ground in a little more than an hour after it started. All furniture and many personal effects of the negro farm workers, who had been living in the house, were lost. An attempt was made by firemen from Excelsior Hose Company of this city to save the structure, but the fire had gained too much headway for their work to be effective. The men working on the farm are employed by a farmer who leased the property from Mr. Warren. All of them were at work in the fields when the fire started. The flames spread so rapidly that few of the men had time to save anything in the building after they first noticed it was afire. The views above show the fire in progress.

Surgeon Tests Gas Mask Successfully in Operation

LONDON.—An account of a successful operation for appendicitis performed by Col. E. M. Cowell, of Wimpole street, while wearing a general service respirator is printed in the Lancet.

"Before starting," it said, "Colonel Cowell carefully applied anti-dim to his glasses and to the eyepieces of the respirator both within and without.

"The respirator was donned before washing, and was worn for the 45 minutes till the dressing was applied. No difficulty was experienced in comfort, efficiency or visibility. The wearing of the civilian-duty type of respirator would, Colonel Cowell thinks, be much more comfortable and easier for all concerned."

New Orleans Will Use Tin Cans Under Streets

NEW ORLEANS. — Traffic soon will roll over streets made partly of metal, but it won't conflict with the city's antinoise campaign.

The metal—tin cans—will be on the bottom. The scheme, a money-saving idea of Mayor Robert S. Maestri, will salvage the over-supply from city dumping grounds.

The idea is, the mayor said, to provide a base for paving. Due to the low, swampy nature of city land, paving without an upholding base, often buckles and sinks.

Once before, Maestri experimented with a paving base. City workmen dumped sand into prepared ground in marshy sections of the city. Sinking was reduced to a minimum.

Busy English Housewife Has Budget of 25 Million

LONDON.—The busiest housewife in England is Mrs. Monica Felton, who has just been appointed chairman of the London county council supplies committee.

Mrs. Felton has $25,000,000 to spend every year, but she must spend it wisely and well, getting the best things at the lowest prices.

Her purchases will range from toys to building equipment, from bandages to X-ray apparatus.

The buying of food is one of the most important aspects of the committee's work. L. C. C.'s food bill last year was in the neighborhood of $7,500,000.

Auto Plant Suspends

Copenhagen, Sept. 30 (AP).—Gasoline rationing which has caused a trend from automobiles to bicycles resulted today in suspension of operations in General Motors Danish assembly plants, employing approximately 1,000 workers. More than two million bicycles are used in this country.

Board in Favor Of Religion Class

Establishment of a class in religious education has been authorized by the board of education. The Rev. Russell Damstra, pastor of the Reformed Church of the Comforter, petitioned the board of education to allow him to hold classes in religious instruction at the church which is directly across the street from No. 5 School. The school will be held one hour a week and will be open to those who enroll in the class.

The state education department recently was authorized by the legislature to permit students enrolled in religious education classes to receive credit for one hour a week.

Students at No. 5 will be the first to take advantage of the new law but the board announced that if other ministers desired to hold such classes the plan would be extended. The request of Mr. Damstra was approved by the Ministerial Association.

The children desiring to take this course are permitted to do so after their parents have given approval and signified the church of their choice. Children are excused for the hour and go to the church of their faith for the instruction. Roll call is taken there to ascertain whether all attend the class. Since only one church has thus far signified intention to conduct the course the enrollments will be limited to those seeking instruction in that denomination.

Trustee Remmert moved the request of the Rev. Mr. Damstra be granted. Carried unanimously.

Classis to Meet

The Classis of Ulster will meet in stated session next Tuesday, October 3, in the Reformed Church of Rosendale. The meeting will begin at 9 a. m. Special attention will be given to the Synod's suggested program for the work and life of the church. The inspirational address, in the afternoon, will be given by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool.

Board Discusses Aviation Course

Kingston young men may have an opportunity to take up the study of aviation if a sufficient number of men can be interested in the course. The course would be carried on in a series of lectures by a professor from New York University and the course would include instruction in navigation and similar allied arts necessary to become a transport pilot. This course would be conducted in one of the school buildings and would go toward college credits.

As explained the course would consist of two parts. Each of the two units would require an enrollment fee of $11, making the entire course cost $22. There are already 18 men in the city who have expressed a willingness to take the course. Operated as a night school, one night a week, the course would be recognized and the students completing the course successfully would be given credit for their work. Twenty-five enrollments are desired for the course.

The plan was discussed by the Board of Education and Superintendent Laidlaw was instructed to make arrangements for the course provided the required number of enrollments could be secured. The lectures will be given once a week by one of the aviation instructors from New York University.

Milk Pegged Higher

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP).—Milk stood pegged a half-cent-a-quart higher to the consumer today, effective tomorrow, by two of New York city's largest distributors while the drive for higher prices to producers continued upstate. The Borden Company and Sheffield Farms announced the consumer price boost last night. Both attributed it to the federal-state milk marketing order advancing the return to dairymen from $2.60 to $2.82 a hundredweight (47 quarts) tomorrow.

Dr. Borrell Dies

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP).—Dr. James H. Borrell, 48, president-elect of the New York State Medical Society and a well-known urologist, died in a (Millard Fillmore) hospital last night after a two-weeks' illness. Dr. Borrell was a survivor of the 1934 Morro Castle ship fire disaster off Asbury Park, N. Y. He and his wife jumped from the flaming ship into the sea. Mrs. Borrell never was found.

Schools to Close For Extra Holiday

Students in the city schools will undoubtedly appreciate the action taken by the Board of Education last evening when on motion of Trustee Hutton, the board voted to close the public schools on Friday, October 13, the day after Columbus Day.

Superintendent Laidlaw said that a single day following a holiday in this manner means but little in the way of instruction to students. It was practically a lost day and the students might just as well have a long holiday and return fresh for work next week. The board voted to close the schools on Friday, October 13.

Schools will also be closed on November 3, the first Friday in November. The New York State Teachers' Conference is held that week-end and the board voted to close schools and requested that teachers attend the conference in New York city.

Comforter Services

The Reformed Church of the Comforter will resume Sunday evening services beginning October 1, at 7:30 o'clock, in the church auditorium. According to the Rev. Russell Damstra these services will be of an informal nature with music being an outstanding feature of the program. The public is invited.
